WICKES IS FINED $100

Dorchester Automobile Dealer Charged With Mutilating Valuable Tulip Tree

As a result of a neighborhood row, following the alleged mutilation of a valuable tulip tree, Bernard H. Wickes of Rosedale street, Dorchester, a well-known automobile dealer, was fined $100 in the Dorchester Court today.

Wickes appealed and was released on his personal recognizance of $300.

Complaint against the automobile dealer was brought by Archer B. Coffin of No. 19 Rosedale street, who charged that Wickes "did wantonly injure a tree not his, standing for a useful purpose, to wit: for its shade, upon the land of said Coffin."

It was claimed that Wickes sawed off limbs of the tree, which was quite old, because they intruded on his property, and interefered with certain work.

COURT ASKS FOR SPEED IN SALEM MURDER CASE

Salem, Oct. 22.—Following an evening session, the first in many years, the trial of Suleman Hassan and Imbrian Hassan, charged with murder in the second degree, in connection with the shooting of Ali Hassan, was resumed in the criminal court here today. Judge Callahan, who leaves Salem at the end of the week, told the lawyers and jurors that he would like to finish the case before he departed, and asked that it be speeded up. Ali Hassan, brother of Imbrian, was shot following a row in a coffee house in this city.

WOMEN TO ASK SPEEDY RATIFICATION OF TREATY

A group of Massachusetts women, headed by Mrs. J. Malcolm Forbes, has been formed to secure signatures to petitions to be forwarded by the Women's Non-Partisan Committee for the League of Nations to the United States Senate. The committee favors immediate ratification of the treaty.

Who Killed Dr. Dean?

"Mrs. Morrison, you are a woman. What I know would be too dangerous for a woman to know. Go to the United States authorities in Boston and tell them to send up one of their best men as soon as possible. I wanted to be sure. I am ready now."

The fifty words in the five sentences quoted furnish the key to the Dean murder mystery which has baffled the New Hampshire officials for the past fourteen months.

Within twelve hours of these utterances made to a neighbor, William K. Dean, physician, scholar and gentleman farmer, son of one of the first English missionaries to China, and schoolboy chum of the Crown Prince of Siam, was dead.

He was clubbed, gagged and strangled at his mountain home on the outskirts of East Jaffrey, before midnight on August 13, 1918, and his body, in a ghastly shroud of burlap and horse blanket, bound with rope and weighted with a stone, was dropped into a cistern where it lay in six feet of water until hauled out with ice tongs at noon next day.

Since that hour the whole countryside has been clamoring for vengeance, AND NO PROGRESS HAS BEEN MADE OFFICIALLY.

ALL NATIONS TO VISE TREATY CHANGES

Washington, Oct. 22.—By a vote of 10 to 7, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today adopted a provision that whatever reservations to the German peace treaty are finally adopted by the Senate must be acquiesced in by the other nations signatory to the document.

Nine Republicans and one Democrat —Shields of Tennessee—voted for and six Democrats and one Republican—McCumber of North Dakota—voted against the proposition.

QUINCY TO GET $2,000,000 DRYDOCK

That the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation proposes to build a giant $2,000,000 drydock, to dredge the approaches to a new State pier and to build a $50,000 bulkhead, which will reclaim 240,000 feet of State land at Quincy, was stated by Chairman John N. Cole of the Waterways Commission today as the important considerations which promoted the State to turn over nearly 70,000 square feet of its land to the corporation at a nominal rental of $1 a year.

Chairman Cole stated that the highest value of the land given over to the corporation can be estimated at $76,540. He said that the rental which the corporation is released from paying would amount to $50,000, making the total contribution by the State $126,540.

WELLESLEY GIRLS TAKE UP PUBLIC QUESTIONS

Meetings will be held on the campus at Wellesley College in the near future to discuss public movements. The freshmen colony known as "the village" will attend. One of the first speakers will be Dr. Raymond Calkins of Boston, who will discuss the Student Volunteer Conference to be held in Des Moines, Iowa, December 31 to January 4. The Wellesley Association reports 240 new members this year. Its total membership is 1850.

PALMER TO SPEAK ON H. C. L.

Big Drive Against Profiteering Will Be Launched in Boston on Friday

A gigantic, nation-wide drive against the high cost of living, with all the machinery of government and commonwealths behind it, will be launched in Boston on Friday.

Attorney-General A. Mitchell Palmer will be the chief speaker at a conference called by Governor Coolidge, to take place at 2:30 o'clock at the Council Chamber.

The Attorney-General will make his first move in the campaign in Boston, later speaking in other capitals in line with the government's determination to spur the States into action against profiteers.

Among those present will be the Mayors of Massachusetts cities, the State Commission on the Necessaries of Life, and the district attorneys. They will confer with Mr. Palmer in an effort to devise plans which will secure more effective and efficient cooperation between the State and federal forces.

The various needs of the different communities will be laid before the meeting, and a decision arrived at as to the best possible means of the State and nation co-operating, as well as the various parts of the State co-operating with the State as a whole. A statement issued will be concluded with an expression of belief that a free and general discussion of problems will bring about the desired result.

No details were given as to whether or not the conference would attempt to remedy the present shortage of sugar and other commodities.

Forcing Buyers to Order Provisions When Seeking Sugar Gets Official O. K.

The practice of grocery stores, in compelling customers to purchase a certain amount of supplies before selling them any sugar, was defended in a statement today by General John H. Sherburne, chairman of the State Commission on the Necessaries of Life.

"This custom," said General Sherburne, "prevents the floating population, or several members of one family, from buying more than their share of sugar at a cash-and-carry store. By forcing each customer to purchase a certain amount of groceries, the stores prohibit any undue allowance of sugar.

"This commission has very little to do in connection with the distribution of sugar, which is entirely in the hands of the Equalization Board at No. 111 Wall street, New York city. Whatever work we may do is voluntary, and we have absolutely no authority. We may prosecute, however, if we find that extortionate prices are charged.

"The Revere Sugar Refinery and the American Sugar Refining Company take their orders from the Equalization Board, and distribute the sugar accordingly. It is quite possible that it is apportioned according to the population of the various cities and towns. I believe that the refiners sell their product at eight or nine cents a pound. In a few days I hope to have a statement on the situation."

ARREST IN LOWELL H. C. L. MURDER

Joseph Fortuna, Divorced Husband of Slain Woman, Is Held as Suspect

Lowell, Oct. 22.—Joseph Fortuna, divorced husband of the woman whose nude body was found on the Hanlon Farm, was arrested today when he returned to this city to attend the woman's funeral.

Fortuna, who denied all guilt and declared he would furnish a perfect alibi, was taken to the police station by his brother-in-law, Jacob Targ, and arrested on suspicion.

He stated that he had been working in Putnam, Ct., for some time past and had just learned of the crime. Immediately upon hearing of the affair, Fortuna hurried to Dracut and asked Jacob Targ in order to learn the funeral arrangements, he told the police.

In the meantime State Detective Silas Smith with Dracut police officers, went on their way to Pawtucket, R. I., where they believed Fortuna to be, to place him under arrest.

The man was held at the police station pending the arrival of District Attorney Nathan P. Tufts, who was notified, and who stated that he would arrive in a short time to take personal charge of the case.

Fortuna told the police that on his last visit to Dracut, which was before the body was discovered, that he had a talk with Targ, and then returned to Lowell. On reaching Targ's house Johnny, the latter took Fortuna into an outhouse and rushed him to the police station.

MAYOR AGREES TO SLICING OF COMMON

Declares It Is Best Way to Relieve Park, Tremont and Boylston Street Congestion

Mayor Peters today gave his unqualified endorsement to the plan of the street commissioners for cutting Boston Common on Park, Tremont and Boylston streets to relieve traffic congestion.

"With conditions as they are these streets constitute an intolerable menace to public safety and a detriment to doing business in this city," he declared. "I favor cutting the Common."

The Mayor said he would issue a statement later fully explaining his reasons for favoring this project. He said he would make no personal campaign to bring about the relief of congestion in the manner proposed by the commission although he admitted several organizations had urged him to do so.

To construct a crosstown thoroughfare from Park square to the South Station by widening Elliot street would cost $18,000,000, the Mayor stated, and in his opinion would not be feasible.

PIERCE AGAINST PROJECT.

Secretary Myron E. Pierce of the Boston Common Society declared today the society would fight the project to slice the Common.

He declared the society would see that the voters had an opportunity to express themselves on it at the city election.

"It is too bad to find that the street commissioners threw up their hands. For that is what they are doing. They are dodging the real problem and throwing this out as a sop.

"If the Boston Common Society felt that taking land from the Common at Park, Tremont and Boylston streets would solve the problem of congestion it would not feel like opposing it. But we are absolutely convinced that it will not solve the problem. We do not think the voters of Boston will consent for a moment to give the Tremont street merchants a part of Boston Common for their own private use.

"When that proposition is put up to the voters, as it will be, they will say 'No' in a voice that can be heard from here to New York."

FINE FIVE FOR HAVING POOR CREAM AND MILK

Five restaurant keepers were arraigned in Municipal Court before Judge Duff today, charged with having in their possession cream and milk below standard. The complainant was Dr. James O. Jordan of the Board of Health. All were found guilty and paid fines as follows: James Sackellas, Tremont street, milk below standard, $10; Steve Convelis, Tennyson street, cream below standard, $10; John Cantanickas, Columbus avenue, cream below standard, $10; Floyd Lunch Company, Atlantic avenue, two counts of cream below standard, $20; Alexander Defereos, Massachusetts avenue, cream below standard, $10.

GOMPERS BLOCKS FAVORABLE REPLY

Washington, Oct. 22.—President Wilson's appeal to the Industrial Conference, the first document written by the President since he was stricken ill, was read to the conference today by Chairman Lane. The letter was a plea for the delegates not to abandon their work and a warning that failure of capital and labor to agree would be an invitation to national disaster.

The reading of the President's letter is indication of the grave danger of a permanent failure of the Industrial Conference to agree on a program. The letter was written with the understanding that it would be used only as a last resort to prevent disruption of the conference.

The letter follows:

"To the ladies and gentlemen of the industrial conference:

"I am advised by your chairman that you have come to a situation which appears to threaten the life of your conference, and because of that I am presuming to address a word of very solemn appeal to you as Americans. It is not for me to assess the blame for the present condition. I do not speak in a spirit of criticism of any individual or of any group. But having called the conference, I feel that my temporary indisposition should not bar the way to a frank expression of the seriousness of the position in which this country will be placed should you adjourn without having convinced the American people that you had exhausted your resourcefulness and your patience in an effort to come to some common agreement.

WILSON IMPLORES CAPITAL AND LABOR TO AGREE AT CONFERENCE

WARNS BOTH SIDES OF PERIL IN "DIVERGENT PATHS"

find a way of avoiding international war, are we to confess that there is no method to be found for carrying on industry except in the spirit and with the very method of war? Must suspicion and hatred and force rule us in civil life? Are our industrial leaders and our industrial workers to live together without faith in each other, constantly struggling for advantage over each other, doing naught but what is compelled?

"My friends, this would be an intolerable outlook, a prospect unworthy of the large things done by this people in the mastering of this continent; indeed, it would be an invitation to national disaster. From such a possibility my mind turns away, for my confidence is abiding that in this land we have learned how to accept the general judgment upon matters that affect the public weal. And this is the very heart and soul of democracy.

"It is my understanding that you have divided upon one portion only of a possible large program, which has not fully been developed. Before a severance is effected based upon present differences, I believe you should stand together for the development of that full program touching the many questions within the broad scope of your investigations. It was in my mind when this conference was called that you would concern yourselves with the discovery of those methods by which a measurable co-operation with industry may have been secured, and if new machinery needs to be designed by which a minimum of conflict between employers and employes may reasonably be hoped for, that we should make an effort to secure its adoption.

"It cannot be expected that at every step all parties will agree upon each proposition or method suggested. It is to be expected, however, that as a whole, a plan or program can be agreed upon, which will advance further the productive capacity of America through the establishment of a surer and heartier co-operation between all the elements engaged in industry. The public expects, not less than that you shall have that one end in view and stay together until the way is found leading to that end or until it is revealed that the men who work and the men who manage American industry are so set upon divergent paths, that all effort at co-operation is doomed to failure.

"I renew my appeal that with a full comprehension of the almost incomparable importance of our tasks to this and to other peoples, and with full faith in the high patriotism and good faith of each other, you push your task to a happy conclusion.

(Signed) "WOODROW WILSON."

LANE WROTE PRESIDENT.

Before reading President Wilson's letter, Chairman Lane said he had written to the President a letter describing the situation in the conference.

"Lying on his back on his bed, he wrote the letter which I have here in my hands and which I shall read to you," Chairman Lane said.

Chairman Lane read the letter with great oratorical effect. The audience sat in deepest silence during the seven-minute reading. Hand-clapping followed and at the suggestion of Chairman Lane, a rising vote of thanks and "tender of sympathy" was taken.

John Spargo of the public group said that he felt a rising vote of this sort did not seem to him sufficient. He moved that the conference adopt a resolution, which would be sent to the White House sick room, pledging each group and each individual in the conference to remain in the conference until a program had been prepared.

Harry A. Wheeler of the employers' group seconded the Spargo motion.

Samuel Gompers said the labor group had held a session this morning and they had had too little time to do their work. He thought the Spargo motion pledging every one to remain in the conference was unfortunate.

Chairman Lane asked Mr. Spargo to withdraw his resolution. Mr. Spargo did so.

The conference then adjourned to give the labor group opportunity for further conference.

MORRISON REBUKES SPARGO.

A short scene took place as the labor group retired from the hall. When Frank Morrison, of the labor group, passed the table where Spargo was sitting, he said:

"That was a hell of a motion for you to introduce. If you want to keep us here day after day to be crucified."

Spargo replied:

"Well, the motion is withdrawn now, isn't it?" You won't be called upon to vote on it."

Spargo, in explaining his motion to a reporter, said: "It did not seem to me enough to send back to President Wilson's sick room the statement that we had received his letter with a vote of thanks and sympathy. He had asked us in the letter to keep the conference going until we either arranged a program on which labor and capital might come together or until we found that their differences could not be settled. I felt he wanted a definite answer from us as to whether we should do this or not. I put the motion on the spur of the moment without conference with members of my group."

SPARGO DENIES PLOT.

Spargo denied that he had arranged with the chairman of the conference or with Harry Wheeler of the employers' group, who seconded his motion, to present such a motion to the conference.

"It was not planned in advance," he said.

Chairman Lane bore out Spargo's statement that the motion had not been part of any program to force labor to stay in the conference.

"I did not know the Spargo motion was coming," he said, and I later asked that it be withdrawn."

The President's letter was read to the conference at the demand of the labor group.

When Chairman Lane was called into the council of the Labor group before the opening of the conference, Samuel Gompers asked him if he had in his possession a letter from the President of the United States. Mr. Lane replied that the press of the country had announced that fact yesterday. When the labor leaders told Mr. Lane that it would be necessary for them to know what was contained in the letter Lane is said to have replied:

"This letter is addressed to the conference itself. If you desire to hear it it will be necessary for me to read it to the entire conference."

The labor group then adjourned its session and went into the hall, where Chairman Lane called the conference to order and read the letter.

Miners Leave Conference; Secretary Wilson Pleads With Coal Operators

Washington, Oct. 22.—At the request of Secretary of Labor Wilson, the miners left the coal conference today. Secretary Wilson then proceeded to lay his case before the operatives in an endeavor to get them to change their attitude. The miners' leader, John L. Lewis, leaving the conference, said the situation was unchanged.

Meantime every government agency was prepared to meet a great national crisis—a coal strike.

Cabinet officers got instructions that their departments should investigate the possibilities of government operation of the mines and the revival of the Fuel Administration was under serious consideration.

The difference in attitude of the two parties in controversy towards Secretary Wilson was noticeable today. The miners hailed the secretary as "Billy," many of them having known him when he was a miner. The operators were more formal and addressed the secretary as "Mr. Secretary."

The coal strike situation is entirely up to Secretary Wilson, it was stated at the White House today.

Secretary Wilson has been in conference with those close to the President and has informed them that he believes he can handle the situation.

Trainmen to Tie Up All Coal and Ore to Steel Mills by Walkout

By International News Service.

Washington, Oct. 22.—Consent of the railroad brotherhoods to a walkout of all union train crews employed in mills in the strike area, who are not under contract, assures a tie-up of the railroad facilities of the United States Steel Corporation, John H. Fitzpatrick, steel strike leader, announced today.

The train crews in the Pittsburgh district will follow the action taken yesterday by the railroad men employed in the mills in the Chicago district, and will stop work either immediately or in a few days, Fitzpatrick said.

A conference with the presidents of the four big brotherhoods, Fitzpatrick was informed that all members of the brotherhoods employed in the mills and not under contract were at liberty to walk out in sympathy with the striking steel workers.

Mayor Hylan Attempts to Settle Strike of New York Longshoremen

By International News Service.

New York, Oct. 22.—Mayor Hylan held a series of meetings with striking longshoremen at City Hall today in an attempt to settle the strike which has paralyzed harbor and shipping traffic in the port of New York for days.

Only 200 of the 60,000 longshoremen on strike returned to work today despite the announcement yesterday by T. V. O'Connor, president of the International Longshoremen's Union, that the strike was over and that the men would return to work.

Mayor Hylan blamed the factionalism among the strikers for continuance of the strike.

"The announcement that the strike was over was a bit of O'Connor strategy," said the Mayor. "By this time people know how much truth there is in O'Connor's announcement. O'Connor is afraid that someone will take away from him the credit for ending the strike, so he gave a public demonstration of his weakness as a labor leader by failing miserably to control his men. The men don't want O'Connor's leadership."

Six Wounded in Steel Strike Riot at Youngstown; Union Pickets Accuse Negroes

Youngstown, O., Oct. 22.—The first serious fracas of the steel strike here came today when, in two clashes, three were shot and three were stabbed.

Four heavily-armed negroes are being held by the police as a result of the shooting. Union pickets charge that the negroes fired upon them early today when they questioned the negroes as to their destination. Police fear the clashes may result in race riots.

John Pablovitch was shot through the nose and leg; John Gertchos wounded in the leg, and John Bartuzel, hit in the head.

In another clash Andy Humanic, a picket, was probably fatally stabbed.

Sam Moldav, a striker, was cut about the hands and James Jackson, a negro, stabbed twice in the back. Jackson is held by the police for the stabbing of Humanic.

Police said the guns taken from the negroes were new. They are investigating the source of the firearms.

During the night Abe Iroavitch, a soldier policeman, was overpowered in his home with his own mace by strikers when he attempted to shield a negro strikebreaker from attack. Both of the strikers were taking the negro from a street car in Steel street.

GEORGE T. COPPINS, 74, DIES AT NEWTON HOME

George Thompson Coppins, for thirty years secretary of the Walworth Manufacturing Company of Boston, died today at his home, No. 19 Fairmont avenue, Newton. He retired from active business six years ago and had been ill for several weeks. He was born in New York city seventy-four years ago and had lived in Newton for thirty-eight years. Mr. Coppins was a thirty-second degree Mason and a member of the Algonquin and Exchange Clubs. Besides his widow he is survived by a son, Raymond G., and two daughters, Miss John Alden and Mrs. Walter Barker, all of Newton.

Mazie Kelley, arraigned in Municipal Court today before Judge Murray, was found not guilty of being idle and disorderly. She was arrested by Sergeant McTiernan, who preferred the charge. Florence Sullivan, counsel for the defendant, told the court that there could be no charge brought under the present prohibition law, unless evidence were produced in court to show that the defendant had been in "tippling" houses, together with a sample of the drinks. $500,000 Flawless Diamond Found In Transvaal

By Universal Service.
Special Cable Dispatch.

London, Oct. 22.—The Premier Diamond Mining Company of the Transvaal is reported to have found a flawless white diamond of 1,500 karats, valued at $500,000.

The famous Cullinan, found in 1905 in the same mining property, weighed 3,032 karats, but flaws in it required cutting it up, the largest part now being a British crown jewel.

WILSON TAKES ON MORE WORK; FEELS FINE

Passes Best Night Since He Was Stricken, Says Official Bulletin

By International News Service.

Washington, Oct. 22.—President Wilson passed one of the best nights he has had since his illness began, declared a bulletin issued at the White House today.

The bulletin was as follows:

"The President has had one of the best nights since his illness began. His temperature, pulse and respiration continue normal. His digestion is more satisfactory."

The statement was signed by Drs. Grayson, Ruffin and Stitt.

Dr. Hugh Young of Baltimore, specialist on the prostate gland, and Dr. H. A. Fowler examined the President this afternoon to check up on the prostatic troubles which has bothered the patient.

Pending bills may be laid before the President today, it was stated at the White House. The President has expressed a desire that matters of this sort shall be submitted to him as they arise.

His chief interest is in the doings of the industrial conference, and his first request today was for information on the situation. He is determined to take a hand if things go wrong, and his eagerness for work alarms Dr. Grayson, who is guarding against a relapse.

Mrs. Wilson telephones to the executive offices at the White House constantly for information as to the action going on before the conference, in order that she may inform the President.

SERVICE NOTES

Lieutenant Joseph Nihal, who has been attached to the recruiting section of the North Atlantic Coast Artillery District, has been ordered to the position as manager of a large manufacturing concern at Orange, N. J.

Auditor A. B. Evans, from Washington, will be field auditor under Captain Ernest Kitchen in the reconstruction department of the U. S. C. at army headquarters.

ARREST IS MADE IN LOWELL MURDER

Divorced Husband of Mrs. Fortuna Taken Into Custody as Suspect took place today from a local undertaker's rooms, and was attended by several members of her family. The chief mourner was Gasienica, while her brother was absent, having accompanied Chief William Cullinan to a Rhode Island mill town. A search has been carried on in this town for several days, but has thus far resulted in failure.

The jealously theory is the only one of all those formulated since the nearly nude body of the woman was found in the woods under Ledge Hill in Dracut, which has stood the acid test.

BECAME DEPRESSED.

It has become known that a few days before she was to have married Gasienica, early in September, she became moody, irritable and depressed. She did not take the interest in her approaching wedding which had marked her previous attitude. While she seemed as fond as ever of her former sweetheart, she seemed to live in a vague dread of some misfortune, according to her relatives.

They ascribed the melancholy in part to memories of her first marriage, which ended abruptly when she divorced John Fortuna for non-support, and then on September 5, two days before the date set for her marriage, disappeared, and the next known of her was when her body was found half buried in a grove of saplings on the Hanlon farm a half mile from her home.

Several times during his recital he broke down and wept, but he succeeded in composing himself, according to Chief Cullinan. It is understood that he gave the police little help in running the murderer to earth. He has seemed stunned since the body was recovered by a hunter Sunday.

Among the multitudinous clues unearthed during the day was a man's coat, reported discovered on the Hanlon farm. The "clue" was not taken seriously, as it was said to be in such a state of decay that it must have been exposed to the elements on Ledge Hill for many seasons. It was, in any case, too much injured to the weather to have been worn by the slayer of Mrs. Fortuna.

GEN. YUDINITCH 15 MILES SOUTH OF PETROGRAD

Has Taken Tsarskoye-Selo and Pavlovsk, Says Copenhagen Dispatch

Copenhagen, Oct. 22.—"It is now certain that General Yudenitch's anti-Bolshevik army is in possession of Tsarkoye-Selo, fifteen miles south of Petrograd," the Politiken stated today.

"Tsarskoye-Selo is the seat of two great palaces owned by the late Czar and a great wireless station capable of communicating messages as far as London."

According to other dispatches to the Politiken, the White forces under General Yudenitch have taken Pavlovsk, Kronstadt, said the newspaper, has been under continuous bombardment since Monday of last week by British warships and French long-range guns. These guns have a longer range than the guns of the fortress.

The dispatches did not make it plain whether French guns had been landed or whether French warships were participating in the bombardment.

"Krasnaya derika has not yet been taken," continued the Politiken.

"The position of the people of Petrograd is helpless. There is firing in the streets in the city day and night. An attempted rebellion was crushed by the Bolshevik garrison.

"Fighting is in progress 25 miles south of Petrograd. Troops were drawn from the Moscow garrison by the Bolsheviks for the defence of the city.

"A crushing defeat has been inflicted upon the White troops on the Murmansk front. The Bolshevik navy transferred soldiers from the southern to the northern bank of Lake Onega and the White forces were attacked in the rear. The Whites retreated, giving up Petrozavsk to the Reds. Fighting has now extended to Sudnaervi."

Gen. Denckin Says He May Be able to Take Moscow Within Next Six Weeks

London, Oct. 22.—General Denikin believes that he may be able to take Moscow within six weeks, but competent British military experts think this view is too optimistic, said the Daily Express today. It is pointed out that Petrograd will be taken so long and the Russian morale is so low that interference with the set plans will be impossible. The lack of policing facilities in Southern Russia is leading to widespread brigandage and it is feared this will develop on a great scale.

Denikin is being embraced by a double spearhead blow, but the anti-Bolshevik forces must stop and consolidate their new positions after every advance.

The British have demanded that the Russian under which Yudenitch evacuate Thornsburg and Ustdvsk, with a detachment from Reval. Colonel Bermondt-Avalov replied with the request that plenipotentiaries be sent.

A dispatch from Berlin under Colonel Bermondt at last reports had joined up with German troops in the Baltic provinces and were making war against the Letts.)

WOHLGEMUTH HAD SODIUM CYANIDE, PHYSICIAN TESTIFIES

DR. BOOS TELLS OF ANALYSIS AT MURDER TRIAL

Dr. William F. Boos, testifying in the trial of Frank B. Wohlgemuth, charged with the murder of his wife, declared today that his analysis proved the lump which Wohlgemuth secured at the navy yard to be sodium cyanide.

The witness, who also examined the organs of the dead woman, had previously stated that he found from thirty to forty grains of this poison in her stomach, and that three-quarters of a grain was fatal.

The government charged that Wohlgemuth administered sodium cyanide to his wife, in the guise of Epsom salts, in order that he might be free to shower attentions on another woman.

On cross-examination by Attorney Daniel J. Daley, Dr. Boos stated that he had never heard of cyanide being used in home-made remedies for colds. Attorney Daley refreshed the memory of the witness by referring to the Sheets trial, in which both figured. Dr. Boos then admitted that he had forgotten such poisons were used in that fashion, but declared they were of extremely small quantity.

INSURANCE NOT PAID.

The toxicologist was preceded by Harry Patten, representing the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company. He testified that the dead woman had life insurance amounting to $1189, and that her husband was the beneficiary. The witness said that the money had not been paid.

The testimony of Mrs. Mary Hickey, sister of Wohlgemuth, that her sister-in-law had expressed suicidal intentions, was attacked by District Attorney Pelletier today.

On cross-examination Mrs. Hickey admitted that she had not given this information to Daniel Daley, attorney for the defendant, until last Monday.

She had previously testified that on Sunday, March 30, the day of Mrs. Wohlgemuth's death, her brother's wife had stopped at the Hickey home while returning from morning church services.

"I am going home to take a big dose of salts, and it may be my last," she exclaimed, according to Mrs. Hickey.

Mrs. Hickey testified today that she believed at the time the statement was made that her sister-in-law intended to commit suicide.

"Why didn't you go home with her" asked the district attorney.

"I told Mildred," the thirteen-year-old daughter of Mrs. Hickey, "to go home with her," said the witness, "but she wouldn't let her."

AUTOPSY SHOWED CYANIDE.

"If you had thought she was going to take her life within a half hour, wouldn't you have gone home with her yourself?" Mrs. Hickey was asked.

"Yes," she replied.

Questioned as to why she didn't give this information to the police after her brother had been arrested for like wife's death, the witness said the witness was "they didn't ask me." She said that her brother had always been a good provider in his home.

Mrs. Hickey acknowledged the authenticity of an interview with her which appeared in the Boston American a few days after Mrs. Wohlgemuth's death and the newspaper article was submitted as evidence.

She was asked about her brother's relations with Mary McManus, whom he had known for about three years, of which a professed ignorance.

Dr. William H. Boos, who analyzed the contents of the woman's stomach following the autopsy, said that between thirty and forty grains of cyanide had been found. Mike Connors, who is employed in another department of the navy yard than that in which Wohlgemuth works, has testified that shortly before Mrs. Wohlgemuth's death he gave the husband a lump of cyanide at his request.

WITNESS TELLS OF BEATINGS.

The last few weeks of her life Mrs. Wohlgemuth frequently spoke of how kind her husband was to her, differing from his former cruelty, of which she had complained, according to Miss Mary Neves of North Cambridge, a friend, who was a regular visitor at the Wohlgemuth home.

He made her remain in bed mornings while he brought her a cup of coffee, the witness said. Mrs. Wohlgemuth complained that this coffee always made her feel worse.

District Attorney Pelletier in cross-examining the witness asked her if it had not occurred to her at the time that the coffee might have contained poison. She said that it did not.

Miss Neves said she had always respected Wohlgemuth until she learned that he beat his wife on one occasion, she testified. Wohlgemuth had quarrelled about the nationality of a child born to the dead woman's sister, after which he punched his wife, causing a cut in her lip.

USED NAME OF WADSWORTH.

Wohlgemuth remained away from home during January and February, Miss Neves said, and his wife had no idea where he was, but believed him to be in company of another woman. He took linen, rugs and silverware from the house before leaving, she testified.

Both Wohlgemuth and his wife at times substituted the name of Wadsworth for Wohlgemuth, it was brought out today.

The superintendent of a candy factory, where Mrs. Wohlgemuth was employed, testified today that she appeared depressed much of the time, and told him it was because of domestic troubles. The last time he talked with her before her death, he said, she said she was afraid her husband would take her child away. Mrs. Wohlgemuth quit working at the candy factory on March 17.

ASKS LOGAN TO ORDER ARREST OF MURPHY

Judge Edward L. Logan, in South Boston Court today, considered an application for a warrant for John J. Murphy, candidate for the Senate, who violated the order of Police Commissioner Curtis forbidding open-air rallies. Captain John J. Mooney of the City Point police station, accompanied by Murphy, consulted the judge yesterday, following a Murphy rally. Captain Mooney applied to Judge Joseph Murley for a warrant. Murley refused to act, telling the captain to wait for the arrival of Judge Logan today. A decision will be handed down in a few days by Judge Logan. Meantime Murphy will not hold open-air rallies.

BALLOU FAMILY TO UNVEIL BRONZE TABLET

The Ballou Family Association of America will hold its 11th annual reunion at Providence, Friday. Headquarters will be at the Narragansett Hotel. A feature of the reunion will be the unveiling of a bronze tablet on the site of the Mathurin Ballou homestead, built in 1650. An inscription reads: "The toilet marks the original homestead estate of Mathurin Ballou, Progenitor of the Ballous in America, circa 1650 to 1662, erected by his descendants 1915." The committee consists of Hosea Starr Ballou, Martin Ballou, Barton A. Ballou and Henry C. Ballou.

DEDHAM TO CONSIDER RAISING POLICE PAY

Dedham's special town meeting tomorrow night will consider increasing salaries of police and firemen $300 a year; act upon the request of the overseers of the poor for more funds and reconsider its vote to change the amount appropriated as the town's share for the Norfolk County Tuberculosis Hospital, assessed by the county commissioners. The warrant committee, relative to continuing service on the Oakdale branch of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company after November 1, recommends that the advertisement consult the railroad officials.

POLICE SWOOP DOWN ON 'OOM' CLUB

New York, Oct. 22.—Investigation of the activities of Dr. Pierre A. Bernard, "Oom the Omnipotent" and "Loving Guru of Tantrika," in his control of the Bracburn Country Club at Nyack, N. Y., was begun by the State police.

Constabulary troopers swooped down on the place, but instead of beholding "Oom's" cohorts indulging in the weird exercises that had aroused the villagers who had been observing the strange antics of the club coterie since the "Omnipotent Oom" established the colony early last Summer, they saw only ordinary exercises going on.

It was evident that "Oom," before talking to court when it was revealed by the American that he was again back on his old job of gathering disciples to his Yoga cult, had seen fit to thwart the authorities, just as he did a year ago when the New York police raided his temples in this city.

The "Omnipotent Oom," turned up in Nyack last night. He was just as defiant of the Rockland County authorities as he was when he was taken in the toils by the New York police.

To a reporter who met him on the main street of South Nyack he admitted his identity and declared he was on his way to the club, where he intended to remain just as long as he saw fit.

Mrs. Cyril Hatch, formerly Miss Barbara Rutherfurd, daughter of Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., one of the most prominent members of the organization, also turned up in Nyack yesterday after having absented herself from the village since the publication of the story that "Oom" had formed a new Yoga colony there.

It was said that she and other prominent society women who are known to be members will be questioned as to all that went on.

Next to "Oom" himself, the most important figure that looms up in the investigation is Sister Beatrix, the former Episcopalian nun, who turned the grounds and buildings over to the so-called country club or "rest cure," as the "Omnipotent One's" devotees call it.

It was revealed yesterday that Sister Beatrix, who conducted the Riverbrook School, an exclusive boarding institution for girls, has for years been a disciple of the "Loving Guru of the Tantrika."

In the West End avenue temple with Sister Beatrix was Margaret Rudd, her niece and an ardent follower of the "Omnipotent One," who has been active in the management of the Bracburn Country Club with the erstwhile nun and the "Loving Guru of the Tantrika."

Miss Rudd or Mrs. Sanderson, as she is now known, was a teacher in the Riverbrook School. Soon after she and Sister Beatrix embraced the Yoga cult, according to Assistant District Attorney Smith, it was introduced in the school. The children were put through the Yoga physical exercises, which were a part of the curriculum up to the time the school was shopped last June.

MOBILE ARMY STORE TO CARE FOR SUBURBS

A fleet of mobile retail stores will be sent into the suburbs of Boston starting the first of next week, according to Colonel E. L. Glasgow, in charge of the Army Retail Stores at South Boston.

These mobile stores, consisting of army trucks, from twenty-five to thirty in number, will be loaded with the three staples, bacon, canned beef and tomatoes. If the authorities of the various communities are agreeable, the trucks will be sent to Arlington, Brighton, Atlantic, Allston, Newton, Somerville, Watertown, Winthrop and Roxbury.

Ten thousand persons were on hand at the South Boston base today when the sale of new underwear began. A small shipment was received from New York, which it is hoped will be followed by others. Prices on other commodities ruled the same.

The army officers at the stores are preparing to open branches at Brockton, Lynn and Lowell soon. A telegram was received from Washington today asking that the sales of foodstuffs to municipalities be increased. This is to eliminate the charges of profitality which have been made. These sales are made at a 10 per cent. discount.

Cash sales yesterday amounted to $15,798.21, and mail order $13,000. This brings the total of mail order business to over $250,000. This department yesterday sent out 2,249 orders.

ROXBURY MAN HELD ON A SECOND CHARGE

Cornelius Clifford, of Roxbury, arraigned before Judge Sullivan in Municipal Court today, was held in $2,000 on a charge of breaking and entering, and larceny of cloth and suits from the tailor shop of Adolph Diamond, No. 164 Dartmouth street, valued at $700. Clifford also is held in $10,000 on a charge of being implicated in the larceny of articles from the firm of Kahn & Son, Boylston street, on the first night of the policemen's strike.

PARLIAMENT OF BRITAIN GRIPS GRAVE ISSUES

Coalition Government Will Stand or Fall With Legislation to Be Passed

By Universal Service.

Special Cable Despatch.

London, Oct. 22. — When Britain's Parliament reconvened today it faced the most serious situation it has had to deal with since the war. Questions of outstanding importance are crowding each other to the forefront of the stage requiring far-reaching legislative measures. Principal among these are:

1—The Irish question.
2—National economy.
3—Labor, income and wages.

The labor situation is more acute since the relations between labor and the government are becoming more and more strained. Arthur Henderson, chief British labor delegate to the forthcoming conference at Washington, has cancelled his trip to America because he feels the situation here requires his presence.

The eyes of the entire country are turned to Westminster, and it is the general view that the coalition government will stand or fall with the legislation to be passed during the autumn sittings.

DANGER NOT REALIZED.

Lord Robert Cecil, who is now much in the limelight as a critic of the methods of the government, has this to say on the situation:

"The serious portion of the country financially, at the rate at which we are still living beyond our income, is a matter for immediate searching inquiry by Parliament. The country does not realize the danger it is in. The situation obviously is worse than at any time since the war. All subsidies must stop.

"The question is rendered most acute by the rise in the cost of living which is 125 per cent above the pre-war level. The government must explain its actions."

Premier Lloyd George summoned a meeting of the finance committee of the cabinet for the purpose, it is believed, of framing drastic economy bills which will be given the House of Commons before the members have a chance to attack the government.

IRISH QUESTION TO FORE.

The Irish question will occupy a large part of the attention of the Commons because the question has been brought to a decisive stage as a result of the outrages occuring almost daily in Ireland.

Statesmen who are interested in the fate of the island unanimously insist that something, no matter what, must be done at the Parliament session about to be convened. The Premier has seen fit to follow the advice of friends by appointing a committee to draft an Ireland bill, which will likely be presented to Parliament, according to Lloyd George's promises, but there is a chance that he will ask for another suspension of the Home Rule act. This would arouse a furore.

DOUBLE-DECKED STREETS FIND FAVOR

Only Permanent Solution of Boston Traffic Problem, Many Believe

Double-decker streets are the only permanent remedy for traffic congestion in the shopping district believe several persons who have sent their suggestions to the American's traffic editor. Many of the readers call attention to side streets and other measures which have been proposed would at best be only temporarily beneficial, they declare.

It is a consensus of opinion that Boston, with its generally narrow streets, has a traffic problem different from any other city. Unless the downtown streets are made wider, several of the writers believe, the only possible solution is in erecting an elevated street.

The dangers besetting the pedestrian will become greater, one writer says, with the rapidly increasing number of automobiles. He would have a square cut out of the busy shopping area during the busiest hours of the day.

Friends of the striking policemen are active. Letters reach the traffic editor every day from persons who advocate reinstatement of the patrolmen as the first step in better traffic regulation.

What are your ideas about Boston's downtown traffic? Address them to the Traffic Editor Boston American.

DOUBLE-DECKED STREETS.

Traffic Editor, Boston American:

The production of automobiles has grown, and each day adds more to the already large volume. The time will come when the pedestrian will be unsafe on the street level, and for their protection we will be obliged to have superstructures at the crossings in the congested districts, and eventually it will be necessary to have double-decked streets. Cars should not be permitted to park on Tremont street, between Park and Boylston streets, and on Boylston street to Columbus avenue.

OVERHEAD PASSAGE.

Traffic Editor, Boston American:

The problem on Washington street from a pedestrian's viewpoint is more difficult than on Tremont street. It would seem to me that an overhead passage, divided for persons going south and those going north, with frequent exits and entrances, not only from and to the surface but also between some of the principal stores, would relieve the congestion and aid the handling of vehicle traffic.

Slayer of Husband Finds Son Also in Prison

New York, Oct. 22.—"Sammie, what are you doing here?" exclaimed Mrs. Lottie Scott as she met her son while attending the Bridge of Sighs leading to the Tombs prison after being sentenced to from five to ten years for manslaughter by Judge Crain in General Sessions.

Oh, I got pinched for a little job uptown. What you doin' here, mother?"

"Just got ten years for killing your father," answered Mrs. Scott as the guard led her away.

Mrs. Scott had pleaded guilty to manslaughter in the first degree. She stabbed her husband to death last August in Harlem. He had been a hard drinker and frequently beat her and threatened to kill her.

Her son, Sam, was arrested for holding up and robbing Phineas Margolies, an insurance man. He confessed to eight and is to be sentenced later in the week. He

The only practical way of relieving the congestion on Tremont and Washington and the cross streets is to stop all pleasure cars from coming into those streets between the hours of 8 a. m. and 6 p. m. Thousands of persons daily walk from the North and South Stations to their business or pleasure. Why should not the automobile owners do a little walking (instead of blocking traffic by driving into the congested district for pleasure or to shop or make some small purchase? My office has been in the congested district for twelve years and I know these conditions thoroughly.

SUBWAY FOR AUTOISTS.

Traffic Editor, Boston American:

I will state from my experience as a Boston teamster for twenty-five years traffic never was running smoother than at present. The auto speed hounds dislike to stop when the officer puts up the hand signal. The auto hog suggests that the expression be barred when we have been told since infancy that the streets were owned by all the people. The automobile congestion will gradually diminish. The only other solution would be to build a big subway and let them go to it.

THREAT RUSHED SOCIETY MAN TO ALTAR

'Diabolical Letter' Hastened His Marriage to Mrs. Pratt, Asserts Gibson

New York, Oct. 22.—Preston Gibson, society man and amateur playwright, said today that his marriage to Mrs. Beatrice M. Benjamin Pratt was hastened because of a "diabolical and threatening" letter received by her last Friday. The couple were married the same day at Greenwich, Ct., by a justice of the peace, Mr. Gibson said.

"In view of the letter I thought we should have my protection and wife therefore married without delay. It is fair to presume, judging from the letters and threats that this one was inspired by the same woman which has literally persecuted her for some time."

Mr. Gibson would not divulge the contents of the letter other than to say it "was most diabolical" and only a few persons would be named. Mrs. Pratt, Mrs. William E. Benjamin, the bride's mother, who is opposed to the match, when told of the contents of the letter, said:

"We certainly would never have done any such thing. I really know nothing about the letter threatening any daughter. There is really nothing else for me to say."

It was learned today both Mr. Gibson and Mrs. Pratt were week-end guests at the home of Osmond G. Smith, in Oyster Bay, just prior to the wedding. Mrs. Smith said that both seemed ideally suited to each other and could not see why the Benjamin family objected.

From another source it was learned that Mrs. Benjamin had cut off her daughter's allowance, which amounted to $10,000 a year. The same source said that Mr. Gibson had but little money in his own right.

The couple will go to California to spend their honeymoon and probably make their residence there. They may postpone this trip indefinitely.

WILLIAM K. DEAN OF JAFFREY, N. H., SLAIN BECAUSE OF HIS LOYALTY

DEATH FOLLOWED FINDING OF GERMAN SPY SIGNALS

The case stands today precisely as it did when the body was discovered, so far as the likelihood of arrests or prosecutions are concerned. And it is in grave danger of being pigeon-holed with unsolved crimes to pass into oblivion without further action, unless drastic measures are adopted.

There is a tendency on the part of a little clique in East Jaffrey, who think themselves Americans, "to bury the case with Dr. Dean and his widow," who died a few weeks ago. These men resent further inquiry in view of the fact that a Grand Jury, tardily called, failed to indict anyone and simply reported a finding of murder, which every man, woman and child knew it to be when the battered and crumpled form was pulled out of the cistern that day.

"MEDDLESOME INTERLOPERS."

The members of the clique almost go into spasms whenever a stranger investigator comes to town to help solve the case and to help their community in the interest of law and order. They look upon investigators, Federal and others at this time, as meddlesome interlopers. They argue that the case has already brought too much odium upon the town and that the sooner it is forgotten the better.

Fortunately the Selectmen, and the majority of the people of East Jaffrey and surrounding towns, including members of the fashionable mountain colony, do not feel that way about it. They exhibit finer spirit. They are in fighting mood. They want the case probed and kept alive until it has been cleared up to the satisfaction of all. They say that the attitude of the pathetically isolated minority proves their contentions that "there is a nigger in the woodpile."

They insist that the assassins of Dr. Dean, who with his wife, was so loved by everybody, be brought to justice and punished and that guilt be fastened no matter upon whom it falls. Some of the influential Summer residents have spent no little time and money to see that the case is pushed to the limit.

To drop the Dean case in its present status would be a calamity—a public disgrace and a blot on the State of New Hampshire and on the United States government. It would mean absolute disregard for the rights and the memory of Dr. Dean and for the safety of the public.

"SOFT PEDAL SQUAD."

William K. Dean's murder should be avenged, if ever a murder was. He was murdered because he was an outstanding, red-blooded, fearless American citizen, a fact that the soft pedal squad seem to overlook.

He was murdered because he knew too much about German spy activities in that mountain region—in the very heart of New England.

He was plain spoken; he had the courage to attempt to carry out his duty as a loyal citizen, to report to the proper authorities pernicious and sinister enemy operations, which included military signals, systematically and defiantly used for months, during the most critical period of the world war, so brazenly used, in fact, that they were the talk and dread of rural communities for miles around and eventually became the subject of exhaustive inquiry and reports by the United States Department of Justice and the intelligence branch of the army Camp Devens.

It is stated on the highest authority that the murder of Dr. William K. Dean in an obscure village in the New Hampshire mountains caused such a commotion in officialdom that it figured in voluminous reports compiled by the army intelligence bureaus of Great Britain, France and even Germany, which was obviously most concerned.

It is further stated that the signals from Monadnock, Park Monadnock and Temple mountains, and other points in New England, especially along Cape Cod, became subjects of important correspondence between the United States government and Great Britain and France. The archives in Washington hold written proof of months of investigation made by Federal officials confident with the murder of Dr. Dean.

County Attorney Roy M. Pickard received several letters from J. Boodan, of No. 16 School street, Boston, concerning the Dean case. In one of these letters, dated Sept. 13, 1919, Mr. Boodan wrote:

STRANGE DOCUMENT.

"Some time ago I received a strange document from a relative of the late Karl Liebknecht, himself, by a high-ranking German secret service man in charge of the Espionage Bureau in Berlin. This document had strange and sensational revelations bearing on the Dean murder case.

"I at once communicated with persons in Britain and France, who, thought, would be interested in the contents of this revelation. To my surprise I was informed that certain persons in England and France had already interested themselves to the extent of procuring reports of 150,000 words. These were put in my hands on the Dean murder case and other matters, showing complicity of a certain prominent man at ——— and others."

INTERNATIONAL MURDER.

There you have further proof that the murder of Dr. Dean was an international murder and that the killing of this inoffensive, law-abiding American citizen was fraught with ramifications.

There never has been a more remarkable homicide in New England. It has all the dramatic elements of a play or novel. Occurring in the most critical period of the war, with a background of rugged New England scenery and characters, the picturesque hills flashing signals day and night, the whole countryside alarmed, armed posses for indignant citizens beating the bush in vain, several near-captures, and women of wealth and culture of the fashionable mountain colony taking active part in the spy hunt, so active that they were shadowed and actually feared for their lives; squads of secret service men and soldiers from Camp Devens joining in the chase and reports of disloyal soldiers in American uniforms conferring with German spy suspects in mountain retreats and at Camp Devens, Ayer, supplied types, situations, color and plot sufficient to delight the most ardent author or playwright.

Because of the military and international angles and the local political and personal entanglements, the murder of Dr. Dean has been made to appear to be more or a mystery than it really is. It isn't near the mystery that certain persons have tried to make it out to be, and they know it.

EVIDENCE WITHHELD.

To be sure it is involved in phases deep-rooted and profoundly significant and far-reaching, but it isn't so involved that it cannot be cleared up if all the officials work shoulder-to-shoulder and CONTINUE TO WORK. If petty jealousies and personalities and politics are swept aside, and if all the witnesses available tell all they know. Some of them have not been to tell all they know up to the present time, and some who knew things of collateral importance say they were not called before the Cheshire County Grand Jury.

County Solicitor Roy M. Pickard, of Keene, and Attorney-General Oscar L. Young, of Concord, claim they have done everything in their official power to fasten guilt and to apprehend and punish the murderer or the murderers of Dr. Dean.

They say the evidence at hand was insufficient to warrant an arrest or to procure a conviction. They say further that they have conscientiously done everything in their power to safeguard the rights of all concerned and to weld a chain that would implicate the guilty persons. They say they are as eager as anybody to avenge Dean's death and to bring the murderers to justice, but that they cannot do it on mere rumor and country gossip which has pointed the finger of suspicion at certain men.

SPLENDID RECORDS.

Mr. Pickard and Attorney-General Young have splendid records as public officials. They are conservative and have proceeded with the utmost caution in this case, but they should not let the Dean case die and they say they don't intend to. They invite anybody who may have any evidence of import to confer with them at once. They say they will reopen the case as soon as they procure anything important enough to make it worth while.

The Selectmen of East Jaffrey are more vigorous in their claims. With Selectman Edward C. Boynton as chief spokesman, they assert that the county and State prosecutors "have ample evidence if they used all that is available to the best advantage."

"Why grope and flounder around for more evidence when there is enough to arrest and prosecute certain persons?" asks Mr. Boynton, who has been the people's champion in this fight. "Why weren't all the witnesses called before the Grand Jury and why weren't those called permitted to tell all they knew?"

Selectmen Boynton, Cutting and Hogan have stood their ground courageously in the face of much pressure visible and invisible. The whole region is aroused and indignant. There has been friction from the start between the Federal officials and the county and State authorities and between the Federal agents and the county and State officials. The Federal officials have worked hand in glove with the Selectmen of East Jaffrey and those who are now appealing for action.

RIGGED DICTAGRAPH.

Affairs were so strained that the Department of Justice men rigged a dictagraph in a room at the Winchendon Hotel, in Winchendon, where a group of prominent East Jaffrey citizens conferred with the county attorney, who was indignant when he heard of it. Even passive residents of the region say "where there is so much smoke there must be some fire."

At any rate the friction, which developed a feud, delayed and bedeviled the case and is interpreted as indicating conditions of an unusual nature, to say the least.

Feeling in East Jaffrey and surrounding towns is as keen today as it was the day that the tragedy was discovered. The East Jaffrey Board of Trade, after two years of inactivity due to the war, held a meeting which developed into a mass meeting of protest concerning the Dean case.

Among the issues raised at that meeting were the following:

That the county and State authorities declined to engage Dr. George Burgess Magrath of Boston, medical examiner for Suffolk County, to perform an autopsy, although requested by the Department of Justice agents, and that when Dr. Magrath was eventually engaged months later to perform an autopsy on the twice-exhumed body, he found that the medical referee had never made a complete autopsy.

That no inquest was ever held.

That the town was advised against offering a reward on the ground that the county would do for one, and that the county failed to live up to its agreement and the town eventually had to offer a reward of $300 which still stands.

CHARGE CLEWS DESTROYED.

That the county authorities failed adequately to safeguard the premises where the murder was committed, and that said alleged negligence resulted in the destruction of important clews.

That Postmaster Henchman swept and otherwise cleaned up the Dean barn on the day the body was found, claiming that he acted under orders of officers higher up, who are reported to have assumed the responsibility.

That the town and Federal authorities claimed the cleaning of the barn was a gross error which resulted in the loss of valuable evidence.

That the detective hired by the county and State was not sufficiently competent and trained to investigate such an important case.

That the town was obliged to engage a detective of its own whose report was discredited by the county and State officials.

That the county and State officials were tardy in calling a special Grand Jury. (It was not convened until April, after a lapse of nine months.)

That there was serious lack of co-operation on the part of the town, county, State and Federal authorities.

RUFFLED SENTIMENT.

As may be observed, it doesn't require more than a casual reading of these complaints to get an idea of the involved nature of this tragedy and the ruffled sentiment of the community thereabout, and it hasn't changed an iota. The town of East Jaffrey is divided with nine persons in every ten, and probably a greater majority, demanding that action be taken against certain suspects.

The county and State authorities worked for months on the theory that Mrs. Dean may have committed the crime because she had opportunity. They tenaciously clung to this hypothesis in spite of the fact that every mental alienist and physician engaged by them reported that the widow was too frail mentally and physically to carry out such a crime.

MURDERED EAST JAFFREY FARMER, HIS WIFE AND PETS

Mrs. Dean, the wife of the tragedy victim. She died some months ago, never having recovered from the shock of her husband's death.

wonderful love for her husband, and particularly in view of the strong fabric of clews and circumstances that seemed to implicate others more strongly.

In justice to the memory of Mrs. Dean it can be here stated in the most positive terms that she had no more to do with the death of her husband than a child unborn. In stumbling along that trail the county and State authorities allowed more promising trails to grow faint and cold. They barked too long up the wrong tree.

ASSASSINS COVERED TRACKS.

Meanwhile, the real assassins were busy covering their tracks, and Mrs. Dean, as sweet and trusting and innocent as a child, was entirely ignorant of the suspicion until within a few days of her recent death.

There are interesting things to be told about Mrs. Dean in a later instalment.

There has been much talk about absence of motive in the Dean murder case, when as a matter of fact motive has been smeared all over the landscape.

Motive was to be found in the sun dashes by day and in the hot-air balloons and rockets and vivid flashes, which imitated heat lightning at night, and in the dot and dash lights which blinked from captive balloons along the rugged mountain slopes and peaks, and, above all, in those words spoken by Dr. Dean to Mrs. Morrison the very day of his death—words which return now like an accusing voice from the grave—words which boom louder than anything else in this absorbing case, and which will aid in smoking out the real slayers of a law-abiding American citizen whose tongue was silenced before he could "squeal."

There is evidence tending to show that the conversation between Dr. Dean and Mrs. Morrison in the field that day was overheard by someone concealed in a clump of bushes nearby. There is stronger evidence that Dr. Dean had ample opportunity to tell others of what he had planned with Mrs. Morrison when he went to the village that evening to do his weekly shopping, a few hours before his death.

Who feared the threatened disclosures?

Who knew that Dean knew?

TARS WHO TRIED TO HALT TROLLEY DRIVEN FROM CITY

New Bedford, Oct. 22.—Having tried to take charge of the front end of a Fall River line car and annoyed the motorman by blowing cigar smoke in his face, Seamen William W. Cohan and Harry Brady, enlisted men, from Newport, were delivered as prisoners at the West End police station by the trolley crew, who backed the car about a mile for that purpose.

The sailors did not notice that the car was moving backward, and were thrown off when they were placed under arrest. They were given an hour to leave town by Judge Frank A. Milliken in the District Court.

DEMAND RAISING STEEL STRIKERS' FUND AT ONCE

By Universal Service.

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 22.—Immediate action in raising funds for the striking steel workers is requested by delegates to the convention of the Illinois State Federation of Labor. The proposal was in committee, they were told.

Colonel W. S. Mapes, commander of the Federal troops in Gary, was requested by telegram to explain a statement credited to him that "the steel strike in this district was unwarranted by the Reds." No reply was received. A resolution, requesting unions to repeal laws discriminating against negroes was passed.

MERCHANDISE UP TO A STANDARD

TOWELS Over 2000 Dozen at Less Than Wholesale Prices

We desire to call attention to our immense stock of Towels now on sale at less than wholesale prices. Two thousand dozen offered in this sale. More to come at each price, with two exceptions, when these are sold.

The Reason

The House of Hovey Retires from the Wholesale Business.

It has ever been the policy of this store to use guardedly the term "Sale," in presenting merchandise facts to the public.

In these days of soaring high prices it will come as a high note of relief to our clientele to realize that our retirement from the wholesale business, after almost half a century of continued success, is the means of offering the unusual in value.

A retail business that is growing by leaps and bounds, beyond our highest expectations, makes it insistent upon us to devote our entire energies in the development of direct-to-consumer selling.

Our enormous wholesale stock, purchased far below prices now current, will be placed on the market, department by department, so as to give the public the benefit of what we really know to be remarkable values.

Hotel and Boarding-house Keepers, Attention!

Prices here quoted are net, whether one or one thousand towels are purchased

WITH THIS NEW PRODUCT YOU SOAK YOUR CLOTHES CLEAN INSTEAD OF RUBBING THEM

The hardest things in the world to wash

Dish towels—kitchen aprons—small boys' suits
Try this new form of soap on them

Clean dish towels every day —without rubbing or boiling. Just soak them in the bubbling Rinso suds.

IS it really true? No rubbing, no boiling—and your things come straight from the tub sweet and snowy white?

You can hardly believe it!

Well, put Rinso to the hardest test of all. Just try it on dish towels. And those dreadful kitchen aprons—those grubby, grimy little trousers of that small boy of yours—those sticky little rompers that sister always gets everything all over—try washing them the Rinso way.

Then you will know how wonderful Rinso really is.

All the ground-in dirt that used to mean such hard, hard rubbing. How Rinso softens it and takes it right out of the fabric without hurting a thread!

Things that ordinary washing would leave only half clean—Rinso gives back to you snowy-white or with their original fresh, clear color!

A new form of soap—in granules

Rinso is a new form of soap. It is not a cake soap. It is not a "washing powder." But a wonderful new soap product—in fine granules.

The pure, cleansing granules dissolve instantly into a rich suds.

There is not a bit of solid soap to stick tight to the fabric, and injure it.

There are no harsh chemicals to "eat" the cloth—to destroy the colors.

But a rich suds so pure that your clothes soak as safely as in pure water alone.

A new idea of washing

You know what it has always meant to wash the dreadfully soiled things. Rubbing over the washboard. Lifting the heavy clothes out of the steaming boiler.

But did you know that half the wear on clothing comes in the washing? That the hard friction on the washboard, wearing the threads, loosening the weave of the material; that the strong washing powders, "eating" the fibres, destroying their strength—wear out your clothes as much as all the wearing and using they get during the week?

And now this wonderful new way of laundering — with Rinso—saves your clothes all this. Your clothes actually last twice as long!

You merely soak the clothes overnight or for three hours in the morning. You take them out and rinse them.

And they will be gleaming white, spotless. Only extremely soiled things—bad spots—need a light rubbing between your hands, right in the Rinso suds—and they, too, are shining white.

The rich Rinso suds have loosened all the dirt, while the clothes soaked.

There is no boiling, except occasionally, if you wish to sterilize, for Rinso cleans as wonderfully in cold water as in hot.

There is no rubbing, except lightly on the hardest spots.

There is no cake soap, no washing powder. Only one package of Rinso, and your whole week's washing is done better and easier than it's ever been done before.

Start using Rinso this next Monday

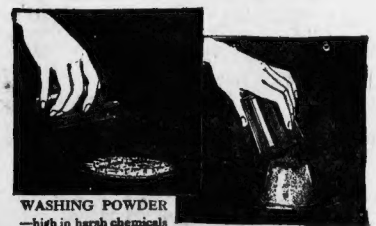
This next Monday try the new way of washing—following the easy directions on the Rinso package. Try Rinso on the things that are hardest to get clean. See how different it is from anything else you ever used.

Your grocer has Rinso. Order it today. —Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass. (Makers of Lux.)

Men's shirts, that are grease-stained from "fooling around" the car, need only the lightest rubbing between your hands, after a soaking in Rinso suds

Rinso is not a "washing powder"

The fine granules of Rinso look much like a "washing powder," but—make this test. Use a heaping teaspoonful to a glass of boiling water



WASHING POWDER
—high in harsh chemicals
—low in soap

RINSO
—absolutely harmless
—so rich in soap it "jells"!

These dozens of little gingham dresses—rompers —boys' suits—so grimy from the playground. Soak them in Rinso suds—they will come out fresh and shining

TIRE MARKS LED FROM SCENE OF CRIME

Witness Tells of Seeing Car Said to Have Been Used by Long

Montpelier, Vt., Oct. 22.—The testimony of Irving Smith, who saw an automobile without a tail light near the Wheelock garden about 1 a. m. on Sunday, May 4, was the feature of today's proceedings in the trial of George A. Long, charged with the murder of Mrs. Lucina C. Broadwell of Barre. It had previously been testified by Charles Spencer, a garage employe in Barre, that a car was hired from the garage just prior to the crime by Long, and was minus a tail light after Long had returned it.

Spencer was followed on the stand by Bert W. Goodfellow, proprietor of the Goodfellow garage in Barre. He described the car hired by Long and brought back on Sunday, May 4. He corroborated Spencer as to Long's intention of purchasing an automobile and the trouble the defendant had with it, which occasioned his coming to the garage for assistance.

POLICEMAN GIVES A CLEW.

Following the testimony of Goodfellow, Officer Allan B. Curtis, of the Barre police force, was called for the second time. He told of being approached by Irving Smith on the morning of Sunday, May 4, at about 11 o'clock. Smith imparted certain information he had acquired in connection with the murder.

Smith was next called. He told of hearing a motor after he had retired at the home of Mr. Prindle, on Keith avenue. Looking out of the window, he saw a machine without a tail light. In the morning he told the police.

Returning along Keith avenue, he saw the prints of automobile tires opposite the spot in Wheelock's garden where Mrs. Broadwell's body was found. He followed the marks of the tires and noted that the rear right-hand tire was of a different mark from the other three.

Shown photographs of the car hired by Long, he testified that the tires corresponded with the tracks he had followed on the morning of May 4.

SUFFRAGISTS TO LEARN CAUSE OF 10-CENT FARE

Boston suffragists will learn the reason for the ten-cent fare on the Boston Elevated Saturday morning when the Citizenship Class meets at the Massachusetts Woman Suffrage Association, No. 585 Boylston street, at 10:30. Miss Caro Colburn will tell the class whether the high fare is due to high wages of employes, increased cost of transportation or increased dividends. "How to Develop History With the Study of Civics" will be the topic of Miss Mary Guyton, the teacher of the Citizenship Class.

RIVES SUMMER PLACE AT NEWPORT, R. I. SOLD

Newport, R. I., Oct. 22. — The Rives estate on Red Cross avenue has been sold to Sumner Gerard of New York who occupied the place during the Summer. The property comprises more than five acres of land with a large brick dwelling and garage. The house was built by the late William C. Rives of Boston and has been occupied by his widow, who died recently.

Wedding Off Until Bride Gets Out of Prison

Brockton, Oct. 22.—A romance was suspended, at least for a month, when, in Brockton Police Court today, Judge King sentenced Mrs. Rose Salini, thirty-five, to serve a month in the House of Correction, at Plymouth, on a suspended sentence for keeping and exposing for sale intoxicating liquor. This sentence came as the result of a marriage intention filed at City Hall Monday, in which Mrs. Salini, who lives at No. 45 Arthur street, and Xurgis Alaseyie, thirty-four, of No. 19 Intervale street, signified an intention of being married.

According to Probation Officer Charles A. Parris, who surrendered the woman today, he found her house filled with drinking men last Sunday when he called.

SAYS HUSBAND BEAT HER WITH BEER JUG

Woman Seeking Divorce Shows Scars on Her Head and Arms

A story of cruel and abusive treatment, in which she showed scars on her head and arms, was told in the Divorce Court Session before Judge Hammond today by Annie M. Williams, who is suing her husband, John F. Williams, for divorce.

According to the testimony given by Mrs. Williams, the husband was in the habit of hitting her over the head on an average of three times a week with a gallon beer jug when she refused not only to give him money with which to buy beer, but also when she refused to go for it.

How she came to America in 1906 from her home in Staffordshire, England, to escape his cruelty, and on arrival here went to work to earn her living, was also told by Mrs. Williams.

She told the court that she was married to Williams in 1898 and lived with him twenty-one years. They have four sons, three of whom have served in the British army during the recent war.

Her pathetic story was substantiated by her mother, Mrs. Dorothy Evans, who recently arrived from England to testify for her daughter.

BOY BURGLARS JAILED AND GROCER FINED $50

Robert Tower, seventeen, of Maverick street; Matthew Gould, fifteen, of London street, and John Colbert, fifteen, of Saratoga street, were arraigned in East Boston Court today for breaking and entering in the night time at the shoe store of Joseph Ferari of No. 58 Maverick street, October 8. Tower was held for the Grand Jury in $1,000. Gould and Colbert as delinquent children were placed on probation. The goods stolen were worth over $30. Philip Aronson, grocer, of Princeton street, charged with receiving the stolen property, paid a fine of $50 and made restitution of $34.

RESCUE WOMEN FROM HAREMS OF TURKS

Rev. Dr. James L. Barton, who recently returned from Asia Minor, where he organized the work of the Near East Relief Committee, reports that an important task of the committee is in rescuing Armenian women from Turkish harems.

The English and French army officers in Asia Minor have an agreement with the committee whereby they send soldiers with a representative of the committee to claim Armenian women, when they learn the location of harems in which they are being held as slaves.

"These women," said Dr. Barton, "are being cared for in homes which have been established for the purpose. They are tattooed upon the cheeks and forehead by the Turks soon after they are taken into harems. These marks are most objectionable to the women and we have had cases where the women have burned the marks out of their faces. They prefer the terrible scars left by the hot iron to the embellishments of the harem.

"The committee has engaged experts to study the tattooing with the expectation that they will discover some means of erasing the marks without injuring the faces of the women. They hope to attain success by an electrical process which is being developed."

Dr. Barton expects that more than 15,000 Armenian women will be released from Turkish harems in 1919 and 1920 and that the number may reach 40,000. An important part of the work of the committee in the next year will be to rescue these women, restore them to health and to their families.

POSTMASTERS WANT GREATER EFFICIENCY

Providence, R. I., Oct. 22.—Postmasters want greater efficiency for the service in New England, it developed during the annual convention of the New England Postmasters' Association today. Improvement of the service was the chief topic of discussion. Although a report was heard from the committee which conferred with the congressional committee on salaries.

Two hundred delegates were in attendance. The Chamber of Commerce of Springfield, Mass., was the first to invite the association to hold next year's meeting there, and the invitation will probably be accepted.

3,000 MEAT WORKERS STRIKE IN INDIANAPOLIS

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 22.—An echo of the industrial conference wrangle in Washington over the "by and from among" clause sounded in the packing houses district here when about 3,000 butchers and meat cutters went on strike.

Right of employes to choose representatives to deal with employers in presenting grievances, agreement on arbitration, increase of wages of 25 cents an hour and an eight-hour day are the principal demands, union leaders said.

SUES MILK FIRM FOR INJURIES BY AUTO

The Acton Farms Milk Company of Somerville has been sued for $5,000 by Stephen Klinosky of Cambridge, a minor, who sues through his father, Charles Klinosky. He alleges that he was injured by an automobile owned by the company.

CRATED GLASS CRUSHES NEW BEDFORD WORKER

New Bedford, Oct. 22.—Caught under a falling case of plate glass, weighing half a ton, Abraham Levenson of No. 1037 Pleasant street is in the Union Hospital with a broken thigh and possibly a fractured skull. The glass, heavily crated, fell on the man as he was helping to unload it from a truck.

WAR PLANE TO BOOM LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Washington, Oct. 22.—War methods are to be used in the interest of the League of Nations. A great bombing airplane will "bomb" the capital city with League of Nations literature tonight, prior to a mass meeting, at which Secretary of the Navy Daniels and Oscar Straus of New York will speak.

HARVARD FUND TOTAL IS NOW $7,437,961

At the close of the third week of the campaign for the Harvard Endowment Fund, solicitors throughout the country had secured 49 per cent. of the desired $15,250,000, with every prospect that the half-way mark will be passed by tonight.

The Boston canvassers, who are seeking to obtain $8,000,000, had the satisfaction of realizing that their own half-way point had been exceeded by nearly $100,000, and with such incentive, the teams entered the fourth week with the hope that it would be the final one.

The Boston contributions yesterday were substantial. The local committee believes that the good progress was due both to team work and the interest shown in the campaign by the business organization known as the "Friends of Harvard."

The totals at noon today were as follows:

Boston	$5,082,240
New York	2,858,201
Outside	1,497,520
Total	$7,437,961

ASQUITH SAYS TAP BIG WAR FORTUNES

By Universal Service.

Special Cable Dispatch.

London, Oct. 22.—Ex-Premier Asquith, in a speech to the Liberals advocated tapping the great fortunes made during the war.

To Fortify the System Against Grip Take LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE Tablets, which destroy germs, act as a Tonic and Laxative, and thus prevent Colds, Grip and Influenza. There is only one "BROMO QUININE." E. W. GROVE'S signature on the box. 30c.—Advt.

LADY ASTOR MAY TRY FOR SEAT IN COMMONS

By L. R. MURDOCK,

Boston American Staff Correspondent.

London, Oct. 22.—Nancy Langhorne Astor, famous on both sides of the Atlantic as a beauty and a wit, has been asked by the Conservative leaders of Plymouth to stand for election to Commons to succeed her husband, Major Waldorf Astor, who, by the death of his father, William Waldorf Astor, becomes a viscount and a member of the House of Lords.

If she consents, the celebrated daughter of the "Gibson Girl" undoubtedly would be the party's candidate. Politicians consider her the strongest possible Coalition candidate.

Lady Astor has made a name for herself as an election worker, the energy she displayed in her husband's campaign having amazed the people.

In one speech, she shouted to some Socialists who were interrupting a meeting:

"You villains, shut up!"

Later she said: "Those who are trying to pull down Lloyd George couldn't manage a tripe shop." Again, on another occasion, she said:

"Many people are yelling against the capitalists only because they want what the capitalists have got. As long as people are greedy and stingy, it's humbug to talk socialism."

Defending her American birth, she said she would emphatically refuse to be born anywhere except in Virginia. When heckled with questions as to why she had not stayed in New York, she answered:

"What an idiotic question. There are slums everywhere, and there are greedy people everywhere."

Permits Brewers to Make Plenty of Beer--1-2 P. C.

By International News Service.

Washington, Oct. 22.—High hopes were pinned on near beer for a time today. Internal Revenue Commissioner Roper issued a ruling that brewers of near beer might raise their products in the course of manufacture to two or more per cent. of alcohol by volume.

Hopes went up. Then came the crash. There was a further condition. The ruling, continuing, declared that the alcoholic content must be reduced by evaporation or other means to one-half of 1 per cent, or less of alcohol by volume before placing the near beer on the market.

To the brewers the ruling means that they may pursue their former methods of manufacture and utilize their plants in the manufacture of fermented beverages just so long as they take "the evil" out of their product before it is marketed. A stampede of applications for work in near-beer breweries is expected.

HUSBAND MET WOMEN, SAYS MRS. STOKES

Denver, Oct. 22.—Mrs. Helen Elwood Stokes, now visiting her mother in Denver, has filed in New York, it was learned today, an answer to the divorce complaint of her husband, W. E. D. Stokes, New York millionaire, in which she charges that he had affairs with other women and that he plotted to ruin her reputation, and that he attacked her.

In November, 1913, she says, after she had refused "for good cause" to sit at the table with her husband's brother Thomas, and asked him to leave the apartment, her husband slapped her face, pulled her into the hallway, pinned her against the wall, and then finished his meal.

Mrs. Stokes says that her husband several times admitted he had had improper relations with other women and warned her that some of these women had threatened to disfigure her so that he had a butler precede her whenever she left the apartment for the automobile.

In May, 1915, she says her husband came into their apartment with his clothing covered with acid and said "that one of his women had thrown the acid on him, that she was demanding money of him and that it was necessary that he arrange immediately for plaintiff and defendant to go South to get away from said woman."

"On information and belief" the answer alleges that "on or about June 7, 1911, the plaintiff was shot by one of his mistresses, while she was visiting her in her apartment in New York city."

Stokes recently filed suit against her, naming his own son, W. E. D. Stokes, Jr., as co-respondent. Mrs. Stokes makes a sweeping denial of all charges against her. She says that in the Fall of 1911 her husband asked her to take three men riding in the automobile and a few days later told her that he had sent the men out with her to test her fidelity.

DECLARE LYNCH IS TRYING TO SPLIT IRISH

St. Brendan Society Resolutions Condemn Colonel as "Acting in British Interest"

At a public meeting in the Deacon Building, under the auspices of the St. Brendan Society, Kerry Club, attended by 1,500 people, resolutions were unanimously adopted exposing the attempt being made by one Colonel Arthur Lynch to divide the opinion that now exists for Irish freedom in America.

Jeremiah Connell, secretary of the Boston Council of Friends of Irish Freedom, told in detail Lynch's history and said that this was the most daring attempt yet made to divide the Irish people. He pointed out further that Lynch represented no one in Ireland, having been defeated by a Sinn Feiner in the election of December, 1918.

The resolutions adopted read in part as follows:

"Whereas, we believe that the meeting being held in Tremont Temple tonight is only another attempt by the English government to try to mislead the American public by having their agents try to change the opinions that now exist in our country for Irish freedom.

"And, whereas, a World War was fought for the purpose of allowing people everywhere the right to determine for themselves the form of government under which they desire to live.

"And, whereas, the people of Ireland voted in December, 1918, by a vote of three to one to establish their government.

"And whereas, President Eamon De Valera of that republic is now in this country to further aid in receiving recognition from this government.

"And whereas, we believe that Lynch is attempting to injure the Irish republic in the interest of the English government, it is our duty as American citizens, lovers of liberty and justice, to do all in our power to assist in carrying out what the world war was fought for and for which so many of our members fought, suffered and died."

The resolutions were signed by Cornelius T. Curran, president; Jeremiah Carmody, Patrick J. Nagle, secretary; Jeremiah J. Crowley, Thomas Heffernan and Mortimer O'Connor.

SWITCHMEN QUIT TO AID STEEL STRIKERS

Chicago, Oct. 22.—Fifty switchmen employed on the Chicago, West Pullman & Southern Railroad, which affords transportation facilities to the Wisconsin Steel Company, in Chicago, were on strike today in an effort to aid striking steel workers in the Calumet district. The men originally served warning that striking employes failing to return to their work today will forfeit their seniority rights and pensions. Union leaders say the workers will forfeit these rights rather than return to work until the strike is won.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night just to keep right. Try them. 10c and 25c.

STATE BENEFITS BY QUINCY DEAL SAYS McNARY

Will Get New Land Through Dredging of Bethlehem Firm, Declares Official

William S. McNary, a member of the State Waterways Commission, today denied that the transfer of 700,000 square feet of State land in Quincy to the Bethlehem Corporation, at a rental of 1 a year, was in the nature of a "gift" to that concern. Instead, he declared, it marked the consummation of a plan for great development of the Fore River district.

"The State will get eight to ten acres of new land," said Mr. McNary, "created by the mud banked up from the dredging operations to be carried out by the Bethlehem Corporation under the agreement. This tract will be used for railroad yards.

"One of the direct results of the arrangement will be the building of a great pier at Quincy. We have made a deal with the Massachusetts Oil Refining Company by which they are to defray part of the cost of the pier. They have also bought some of the land in that section. The company will supply the shipbuilding corporation with oil products.

"The arrangement was made after six months of negotiations, and I think its approval by the Governor's Council is an endorsement of the Waterways Commission.

"We have been criticized for going too slowly in this matter, but I believe that the plan adopted will result in a big development of that section of the State."

The commissioner's attention was called to the doubtful status of the exact cost of this land taken by the State by right of eminent domain. One owner allowed $14,000 took the claim into court and received $70,000.

"That is quite true," he replied, "and is due to the new court rule permitting juries to visit condemned lands and estimating its worth from the amount of improvement being done upon it. The first claims from the Fore River district taken to court were raised little, or any from the allowance of the Waterways Commission. Now, when juries go to the site and see the construction work being done they are inclined to raise the price fixed by the commission before the improvements started."

Trainmen on Job to Keep Down List of Accidents

Boston trainmen are taking a live-ly interest in the "no-accident" drive which began last Saturday and will continue to the end of the month. They will endeavor to eliminate accidents of all kinds from their trains during that period.

A small green button with a red stripe and the inscription "No Accidents, Oct. 18-31," is worn by every man enlisted in the campaign, and there are few employes without them in the local railroad yards.

By directing mental and physical effort against accident for two weeks, railroad officials said they hoped to create a lasting impression among railroad men as to the needlessness of accidents.

REJOICE OVER VICTORY OF "DRYS" IN ONTARIO

Washington, Oct. 22—The Anti-Saloon League of America headquarters issued a statement today rejoicing over the victory for prohibition at the polls in Ontario. The statement declared that the failure of the "wets" to gain the repeal of the temperance act shows the way sentiment is going on the light wine and beer amendments to the prohibition laws.

SENTENCE STAGE HAND FOR HAVING DRUGS

George Brown of Cliff street, Roxbury, a stage hand in a downtown theatre, appearing in the Roxbury Court today before Judge Hayden on the charge of having narcotic drugs in his possession, was found guilty and sentenced to six months in the House of Correction. He appealed and was held in $1,500 bonds for the Superior Court.

MEDICO - SOCIAL HOSPITAL WORK NEEDS FUND

Poverty Prevented at City Institution, Committee Says in Appeal

The committee on Medical-Social work at the Boston City Hospital appeals for funds for the seasons of 1919 and 1920. Help is especially needed for work recently begun with children requiring surgical aid. This is largely preventive of deformities later in life. Funds also are needed for work in the eye, ear, nose and throat clinics, as an extension must be made. Already these clinics have a paid staff of sixteen, with a rising budget of $20,000.

The committee calls to the attention of the public the fact that medical social work in a municipal hospital has already proved itself. They add that in the end it prevents poverty. This, because sickness is the cause of the poverty of half the families who call on charity for help.

A medical-social worker, by co-operating with the physician and the nurse, and carrying the work from the hospital into the home, does away with much distress, which, neglected, wreaks havoc with the fortunes and the lives of persons who, in too many cases, have considered a hospital as a place to die in, not a place where they may be re-equipped for the battles of life.

The committee appeals for the continued and increased financial support of the community. Contributions may be sent to the treasurer, William C. Endicott, No. 71 Ames Building. The committee includes Mrs. George H. Monks, chairman; Mrs. Henry Andrews, Mrs. Edward H. Bradford, Mrs. C. A. Coolidge, Mrs. Thomas M. Devlin, Mrs. Reid Hunt, Mrs. Milton J. Rosenau, Mrs. E. H. Pickman, Mrs. Ernest B. Young, Mrs. Herbert L. Burrell, Mrs. Harvey Cushing, Mrs. Henry Ehrlich, Mrs. C. W. Macdonald, Miss Mary Morton, Mrs. Charles T. Parker, Mrs. Frederick C. Palmer, Mrs. I. A. Ratchesky and Mrs. Paul Thorndike.

DISTRIBUTION OF TAX MONIES OPPOSED

Each Town Should Get What Is Collected There, Claim Two Contestants

The full bench of the Supreme Court today heard arguments on bills in equity brought by Ernest H. Dane of Brookline and Maurice A. Duffy of Milton, who seek to have Charles L. Burrill, treasurer and receiver-general of the Commonwealth, enjoined from distributing the amount received under the income tax law for the year 1918 among the various cities and towns of the Commonwealth, in accordance with the provisions of chapter 314 of 1919.

Dane and Duffy allege that they are the owners of real estate and tangible personal property situated in their respective towns, and that they receive incomes taxable under the income tax law. In the Dane case it is alleged that all his securities are kept by him in the town of Brookline, and that all his income is earned in that town.

Both Mr. Dane and Mr. Duffy claim that any law which does not return the taxes collected in each city or town to that municipality is unconstitutional and void.

The Commonwealth, which was represented by Assistant Attorney General William H. Hitchcock, claims that the provision of the statute of 1919 for a gradual adjustment from the previous scheme of distribution to one on the strict basis of the State tax is plainly fair and reasonable.

Instead of suddenly changing from the temporary scheme of reimbursing cities and towns for their losses in taxation because of the income tax law, that change is made by a gradual reduction of the reimbursements over a period of ten years.

Thus the mount distributed to no municipality is suddenly increased or diminished, and that such an adjustment is plainly reasonable, the Commonwealth believes requires no argument.

French Girl Who Slew Her Child, Born of German, Freed

By Universal Service.

Special Cable Dispatch.

Paris, Oct. 22.—The benefit of the unwritten law has been unanimously granted by a court at Valenciennes to a French girl named Mariole Lambert and her grandmother. Both were tried for killing the girl's offspring from a German soldier during the time of the invasion. The jury accepted the theory that the woman acted upon a patriotic motive.

MALDEN WOMAN ASKS $5,000 FOR INJURIES

MISS O'REILLY GRILLED BY ATTORNEY

Court Warns Cross-Examiner After Her Lawyer Objects to Ordeal; Doctor Testifies

New York, Oct. 22—The hearing on the writ of habeas corpus obtained by Miss Elizabeth Boyle O'Reilly, following her commitment to Bellevue Hospital, was resumed before Supreme Court Justice Wagner.

Dr. Edward Mellus, owner of the sanitarium at Newton, Mass., where Miss O'Reilly was sent by her sister in April, 1918, and from which she escaped, was put on the stand by Joseph Lilly, counsel for Miss Mary Boyle O'Reilly.

He stated that Miss O'Reilly had not shown the slightest indications that her mind was failing during the nineteen months she was under his care, and, as a result, he changed his original diagnosis of paranoiac dementia praecox to simple paranoia, which, he said, was occasioned when the patient had a basis of fact upon which to build the feeling that she was being persecuted. In conversations with him, Miss O'Reilly had claimed she was persecuted, he testified.

Too much Turkish or Just enough Turkish?

IN one way, at least, smoking is exactly like eating.

The more rich and delicious a certain food is, the more care people take to avoid eating too much of it—for instance, plum pudding or candy.

The same rule applies to smoking.

Cigar smokers, for example, are today more careful to avoid too many rich, heavy Havanas. (In fact, more and more cigar smokers now smoke cigarettes too, to help cut down the number of cigars.)

In the same way, cigarette smokers are learning that Turkish tobacco, delicious as it is, is so overrich or heavy that a man can easily smoke too much of it.

But they are learning also that, instead of cutting down the number of cigarettes per day, they can cut down on the proportion of Turkish in each cigarette.

How to reduce on Turkish

THEY can do this by switching from straight Turkish to part Turkish, or "Turkish blend," cigarettes.

The first Turkish blend cigarette ever made—and the one which has always held first-rank importance—is Fatima.

Fatima contains more Turkish than does any other Turkish blend cigarette.

Perhaps this is the main reason why so many smokers of straight Turkish cigarettes keep switching to Fatimas.

Less worry about "too many"

ANOTHER reason undoubtedly is the fact that Fatimas treat smokers so kindly. The Turkish is so perfectly "balanced" by the other tobaccos in the blend that Fatima smokers never have any worry about smoking "too many."

* * *

AT any rate, whatever the reason may be, Fatima keeps on attracting more and more of those smokers who, if they preferred the fancy, expensive, straight Turkish cigarettes, could easily afford them.

This is shown, of course, by Fatima's record in having won the top notch in sales at so many of the fashionable clubs and hotels and other prominent places all over the country (see below).

How much is "just enough"?

DOES not Fatima's record seem to prove that this is the one cigarette containing just enough Turkish? Not too much nor too little Turkish, but just enough. Make a test for yourself.

SAYS 38 PCT. OF ARMY IN 1778 WAS IRISH

Michael J. O'Brien Quotes England's Leaders to Back His Records

Washington, Oct. 22.—Daniel T. O'Connell, director of the Irish National Bureau, gave out a reply to Senator John Sharp Williams of Mississippi, by Michael J. O'Brien, historiographer of the American-Irish Historical Society, New York. This reply, in the form of a letter, was said by Mr. O'Connell to be in the hands of Senator Williams, who had not seen fit to make it public.

Mr. O'Brien declared that in proof of the contention that the Irish played a prominent part in the Revolutionary War, he would submit the statements of Sir Henry Clinton, commander-in-chief of the English armies in America. On March 8, 1778, according to Mr. O'Brien, Lord George Germain, secretary of war, wrote to Clinton directing him "to draw off from the American army the number of Europeans which constituted its principal force."

"MOST SERIOUS ANTAGONISTS."

On the 23d, Mr. O'Brien continued, Clinton replied relating the difficulties of carrying out these instructions, and in referring to the Continental Army is quoted as saying: "The emigrants from Ireland are in general to be looked upon as our most serious antagonists."

This document is in the English archives at the Public Record Office in London, according to Mr. O'Brien. He further quoted Ambrose Serle, confidential agents of the British cabinet, as saying that "great numbers of emigrants, particularly Irish, are in the rebel army, and here they do great Britain much injury by bringing over numbers and trades, and so adding strength, already too great, to the force of America against her."

38 PER CENT. IRISH.

Mr. O'Brien admitted that in his opinion the statement that "one-half the Revolutionary army was Irish" was exaggerated. He declared, however, that after careful investigations he was led to the belief that 38 per cent. of the American army of liberty were of Irish birth or Irish descent. He said that he counted on the rolls a total of 12,293 Irish surnames, and that numerous others were represented.

The writer said he found 686 Kellys, 494 Murphys, 257 O'Connors, 333 McCarthys, 322 Ryans, 396 Reillys, 246 Sullivans, 248 Dougherty's, 240 Connollys, 221 Burkes, 230 O'Briens, 178 O'Neills, 184 Fitzgeralds and 155 Donnallys.

Bargains for Housewife Listed at Army Store

Tasty blackberry jam at 24 cents a can is one of the many bargains offered in the latest list of the Army Retail Store at South Boston. PROFITEERING IN RENTS AND MONEY HIT

Attorney Irwin Files Three Petitions in Effort to Curb Evils

James J. Irwin, a Boston attorney, has filed three petitions in the Legislature, intended to restrain profiteering in rents, and profiteering in the people's money deposited in banks and trust companies.

In filing these petitions, Mr. Irwin stated that "the recent rise in the price of mortgage money has forced an increase of twelve per cent. in the cost of rents, and the failure of banks to function in accordance with the spirit of the statutes has stagnated building enterprise and given rapacious property owners an unjustifiable excuse for unnecessarily augmenting the twenty-five per cent. of the cost of living embraced in housing."

In the petition for legislation limiting interest charged by savings banks on mortgages secured by real estate, Mr. Irwin would substitute in Section 1 a clause stating that "in first mortgages of real estate situated in this Commonwealth not exceeding 60 per cent. of the value of the whole amount of deposits shall be invested, or held for such investment in real estate mortgages, but not more than 70 per cent of the whole amount of deposits shall be so invested. The interest on said mortgages shall not exceed 6 per cent. per annum."

In the second petition, Mr. Irwin would limit the dividends paid to owners of trust company stocks to 6 per cent. per annum. In the third he asked for legislation to protect depositors in the savings department of trust companies by creating a guarantee fund by all trust companies with savings departments.

COMMON LAW WIFE WINS $100,000

New York, Oct. 22.—A jury in the Supreme Court at Mineola last awarded Mary G. Bernard the income for life from a trust fund of $100,000 left by George G. Barnard.

Barnard had $100,000 in cash left by his grandfather in the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company. He executed of trust wherein he was to receive all of the earnings of the money during his life time and at his death it was to go to his wife, if he had one, and, in the event of her death or remarriage, their children, should there be any, were to receive the principal. In the event he had neither the money was to be divided among those groups and a brother.

Soon after his death $47,000 of the legacy was paid to his sisters. Mrs. Mary G. Shelig, who had adopted Barnard's name, laid claim to the estate on the ground she had contracted a marriage with him December 15, 1901. She said there was neither civil nor religious marriage, but that he had given her an engagement and wedding ring and told her she would be as much of a wife as though the formalities were performed by a church. She declared he had said to her that as they loved each other that made the marriage legal.

Mrs. Barnard said she had been married twice before, and that Barnard had boarded at her home in Providence, witnesses testified that they had known her as Mrs. Barnard, and that Barnard had introduced her as his wife.

BOSTON COTTAGERS FEAR LOSS OF DEER

Marlboro, Oct. 22.—Cottagers at Lake Boone are interested in the welfare of deer that visit the water every morning. They are large and tame. While most deer in this vicinity fly at the sight of a stranger, these are accustomed, and willing to accept favorites from Boone cottagers at Lake Boone. Certain amateur sharpshooters point out that the closed season on deer will be all too soon. Weeks and weeks they may have their pets.

The moral of the fur market BUY FURS NOW

In the last few weeks the immense sum of $25,000,000 worth of furs has been sold in the St. Louis and New York auctions to manufacturing furriers and dealers—sold at an advance ranging from 10% to 100% over prices considered high last April. How can prices help being higher next year when the raw material for next year's garments has already been sold at advanced prices?

Natural raccoon, 36 inches long, $275

We have never been in such a favorable position to show the silver lining of a dark cloud as IN THE CASE OF FURS. Filene's has hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of furs purchased and priced at the advantageous scales of last spring.

This large stock offers immense selection. But, unlike other years, a missing size, a style once sold out, cannot be replaced at or near the price it is marked today. Our advice is to buy furs now. We have never been better able to back up the advice with the merchandise.

When Opportunity comes a-knocking!

OPPORTUNITY knocks once, they say, in everybody's life. What is it that makes one person take advantage of that single knocking, while another passes it up?

Sometimes it is nerve; sometimes it is quick action; but, oft! so often, opportunity is passed by because the person at whose door it knocks has not the ready money to take advantage of what Opportunity offers!

Sometimes it is a chance to buy a home at a low price; sometimes the opportunity to go into partnership in a growing business; sometimes a man is offered stock in the corporation for which he works.

In each of these cases, money-at-hand is often the deciding factor.

Opportunity rarely knocks at the Filene door but that a quick welcome and plenty of ready money awaits her. "How come?" you ask.

The Filene store through a merchandizing plan all its own keeps things moving quickly; goods do not get old; undesirables do not accumulate. These are the things that tie up ready cash.

These are the things that fool Opportunity.

These are the things the absence of which makes FILENE BETTER VALUES!

THESE frosty nights need raccoon motor coats

Manufacturers have been known lately to refuse orders for raccoon coats. Skins are advancing to a perilous point. At the large fur sale in the New York wholesale market two weeks ago raccoon skins brought prices from 30% to 45% above April prices.

Raccoon coats will not be plentiful when those on hand now are gone, unless we are very poor prophets. Good raccoon coats now are $225 to $595. Choose from 30, 36, 40 and 45-inch lengths, plain or with two, three, four or five-stripe borders, with and without belts.

WHAT is a football game without a raccoon coat?

The short raccoon coat is the favorite for sport wear — in fact, the tendency is toward shorter fur coats generally.

The raccoon coat sketched above is $275. Note the comfortable raglan sleeves, and big, warm collar. These coats are 36 inches long. The raccoon coat sketched below is 45 inches long, of "let-down" skins, $450.

36-inch natural raccoon coats begin at $225 — there are plenty at this price now, ordered at the lower price scales of months ago. When these are gone, it is extremely questionable whether they can be replaced at the price.

40 and 45-inch raccoon motor coats, $275, $350 and $450.

$450—natural raccoon, "let down" skins, 45 inches long.

TRADING LESS ACTIVE IN BOSTON

List Irregular as to Price Changes During the Forenoon

Opening prices in Boston were higher or unchanged in the instance of most stocks, but the market was less active than it was yesterday and soon became irregular. Parish and Bingham, National Leather and International Products were strong and active during the forenoon, Parish & Bingham selling at its record highest price. International Products advanced the most of the trio, selling at 58½ at its highest. This was three and a half points gain.

Among other issues to advance were U. S. Smelting, Agricultural Chemical, New River preferred, Swift & Co., Mullins Body and Waltham Watch. All were up a point or more.

Among weak issues were American Sugar preferred, Boston & Maine, Island Creek, Punta Alegre Sugar, Ventura, East Butte and Libby. They receded from fractions to a point.

Davis Daly was weak from the start, receding a fraction and being less in evidence than for several days. Trading in covers continued to be negligible. Root & Van Dervoort declined a fraction, and Elder advanced a fraction. Gray & Davis was a little lower all the morning.

BOSTON FINANCIAL NOTES.

Drilling for oil is going on at several points adjacent to the Pond Creek property.

Wallace B. Donham has resigned as vice-president of the Old Colony Trust Company, and on November 1 will become dean of the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration. He has been elected a director of the Old Colony Trust Company.

After a tour of inspection in Texas, where he looked over oil fields, L. Sherman Adams has returned to Boston.

The foreign department of the National Shawmut Bank has opened its new quarters, which occupy the entire front of the floor on the Congress and Water street sides of the institution.

It is rumored around State Street that the General Electric Company may take over control of the Marconi Wireless Company of America.

September copper production by North Butte was 1,420,000 pounds, its largest output for any month since January.

President Burrows states that directors of Libby, McNeill & Libby have not planned to issue new stock.

For the full year it is believed that Mullins Body earnings should be between $650,000 and $700,000.

J. D. Lowe & Co. announce the receipt of the engineer's report, blue prints and assays from bodies of ore now opened by the Verde Mines & Milling Company. The blue prints cover about 3,000 feet of underground workings and show a large tonnage of ore. Based on the assay values of $53.80, $80.80, $105.10 and $78 a ton, the ore would give an output equal to about three and one half times the entire capital stock of the company.

American Zinc, Lead and Smelting Co.

The Directors of the American Zinc, Lead & Smelting Company have declared a regular quarterly dividend of one dollar and fifty cents ($1.50) per share on the preferred capital stock, payable November 1, 1919, to stockholders of record October 24, 1919.

F. W. BATCHELDER, Secretary.

American Cinema Corporation

10 to 100 Share Lots

Many people not accustomed to stock transactions want to buy shares in American Cinema Corporation, but do not know exactly how to go about it. The stock is being offered for public subscription at $10 per share all over the United States. As the supply is limited we anticipated a large over subscription, and secured a block of the stock which we will sell direct to purchasers at $10 net per share for any number of shares from 10 to 100 shares so long as our allotment lasts.

STEELS RALLY, OILS ARE A FEATURE

Motors Recover From an Early Reaction and Show Gains

By W. H. ROSS.
Financial Editor.

Stocks were strong in New York at noon, prices being at about the highest for the morning. The market had a good start, but was strongest in the second hour, when steels came forward and motors recovered from early selling pressure and showed larger gains. Oils continued to feature the market for consistent strength. Highest record prices were reached at the opening by Texas Co., Pan-American and Corn Products. Afterwards Mexican Petroleum and International Paper joined this list. Texas Co. made the largest gain and reached its top price on the initial transaction. Trading was active, first hour transactions totalling about 415,000 shares.

Little change was recorded in the foreign exchange market at its opening. Sterling rates were a trifle higher.

MOVED UP AT OPENING.

An upward movement signalized the opening, all kinds of stocks being strong and with oils in the van. Texas Co. soared sixteen points on the first transaction. Stockholders will meet on November 18 to pass upon the proposal to increase capital stock from $85,000,000 to $130,000,000, and to reduce the par value of shares from $100 to $25. It is proposed to offer $42,500,000 new stock to stockholders for subscription at par, they to have the right to subscribe to one new share for every two now held. The remaining $2,500,000 new stock will be offered to employes at par. With the proceeds of the sale of stock the company is to retire debenture bonds to the amount of $14,798,000, and the balance, approximating $30,000,000, will be employed to expand plant and shipping facilities.

TOOK PROFITS QUICKLY.

Many traders took profits at once which affected steels, motors and other issues. Their gains were diminished. Sentiment was better. The steadiness of the call rate at 6 per cent. on Tuesday was encouraging. It is also believed that the British loan offering by Morgan & Co. is a practical first step in offering relief to foreign exchange. Dealings in industrials continued to feature the market, although a coal strike, which would stop or cripple manufacturing, seems imminent. It is understood that despite taxation big interests have been realizing profits for some time but that they have distributed their holdings by such cautious selling at intervals that it has had no undermining effect upon the market as yet.

OILS WERE STRONG GROUP.

Oils were a strong group all through the first hour, Pan American being a feature. It made a steady advance and was six points above yesterday's closing figure before 11 o'clock. The market stayed strong. After developing a slight reactionary tendency shortly after the opening, there was a rally and prices reached a still higher level. The labor situation is improving, according to the Wall Street view. The optimism is rather remarkable, in view of strike threats by bituminous miners and fear that President Wilson's illness may prove more prolonged and serious than the public believes.

Telephone Earnings

Sixty-five telephone companies report to the Interstate Commerce Commission for July an increase of $6,723,953 in gross and $527,116 in net earnings, while the increase of gross for seven months was $30,475,045 and of net $921,792. Operating income decreased $503,975 in July and $1,258,684 in seven months.

Dividend Declarations

Shawmut Steamship Co. declared quarterly dividend of 2½% on common stock, payable Nov. 15 to stock of record Nov. 1.

Brooklyn Edison Co. declared quarterly dividend of $2 a share, payable Dec. 1 to stock of record Nov. 20.

Tobacco Products Corp. declared quarterly dividend of $1.50 a share on common stock, payable Nov. 15 to holders of record Oct. 31.

Central Railroad of New Jersey declared quarterly dividend of 2%, payable Nov. 1 to stock of record Oct. 30.

American Felt Company declared quarterly dividend of 1½% per share on the preferred, payable Dec. 1, 1919, to stock of record Nov. 15.

American Exchange National Bank declared a semi-annual dividend of 7%, payable Nov. 1 to holders of record Sept. 24.

Sloss-Sheffield Steel & Iron Co. declared quarterly dividend of 1¾% on common, payable Nov. 10 to stock of record Oct. 31.

Chicago Grain Market

Chicago, Oct. 22.—Corn opened ¼c to ⅜c lower. Oats were ⅛c to ¼c lower. Provisions opened lower. Opening prices were: Corn—December, 1.28½ to 1.28; May, 1.21½ to 1.21¼. Oats—December, 70⅝ to 70¼; May, 73¼. Lard—January, 23.85 to 23.75. Ribs—January, 17.25 to 17.20.

Steel Strike Wage Loss

It is estimated that the loss in wages for twenty-four days sustained by steel workers totals about $35,000,000. The loss by manufacturers is far greater, it being figured that the production of finished steel has been curtailed 1,250,000 tons.

Cotton Market Opening

New York, Oct. 22.—The cotton market opened active and strong with first prices 27 to 56 points higher led by the near months, which were in demand from the trade and Liverpool. After the opening the tone continued firm, prices advancing 45 points over Tuesday's closing levels on active positions partly in anticipation of a bullish weekly weather report at 11 o'clock. There was rain all over the belt and private advices reported a continued active demand for the higher grade of cotton. Opening prices were: October, 35.20 to 35.40, up 35 to 55; December, 35.45, up 27; January, 35.30 to 35.35, up 38 to 43; March, 34.90 to 35.08, up 38 to 56; May, 34.85 to 34.90, up 33 to 38; July, 34.25, up 27.

COPPER SURPLUS HAS INCREASE THIS YEAR

As far as surplus is concerned the copper situation is worse than at the beginning of the year when the amount of metal on hand was estimated at from 1,000,000,000 to 1,500,000,000 pounds. This led to curtailment of mining to stabilize the price and give consumers a chance to use up what was on hand. But domestic consumption has been a disappointment and foreign demand far below expectations. No recent estimate of the surplus has been made, but it must have largely increased as selling has been light in all but two months of this year and production is estimated at 75 per cent. or more of mine capacity.

While it is believed that under normal conditions American consumers could use 130,000,000 or more pounds a month, it is questioned if consumption has exceeded 60,000,000 a month of late.

Rubber Company Offering

Bolster & Co. are offering at $17 per share 7,000 shares of common stock of the Stanwood Rubber Company. Net earnings of the company for the first full production year of its Newark plant are estimated at over $4 per share on the amount of common stock outstanding. Subscription books will close at 3 p. m. on Friday, October 24, and trading will begin on the New York Curb at 10 a. m. October 27.

New York Sub-Treasury Gain

New York, Oct. 22.—The sub-treasury gained $402,000 from the banks on Tuesday, reducing the cash net loss since Friday to $8,448,000.

SUGAR CONSUMPTION GREATLY INCREASED

The way sugar consumption has increased in this country is remarkable, the amount used during the fiscal year ended with June last being the largest on record for such a period. It totalled 9,000,000,000 pounds, a billion increase over the preceding year, and was twice as much as was consumed in 1900.

In presenting these figures the National City Bank says that while consumption has doubled since 1900 the population has increased only 33 per cent. Per capita consumption in 1919 was 83 pounds, against 77 in 1918, 78 in 1916, 59 in 1900, 50 in 1890, 40 in 1880, and 33 in 1870. Our 100,000,000 people, although only 6 per cent. of the world's population, consumed last year nearly 25 per cent. of the world's sugar production.

Bar Silver Advances

While bar silver was quoted at $120¼ cents an ounce in New York yesterday, it is said that it sold as high as $1.23. Buyers were willing to pay a premium for quick shipments to China, where the demand is urgent.

Gasoline Production

Refinery production of gasoline in this country increased about 10 per cent. in the seven months ended with July, as compared with the same 1918 period.

Upon completion of the company's financing, the company will have no mortgage or bonded debt of any kind and a substantial proportion of all three classes of stock will be left in the treasury, thereby enabling the company to provide for future enlargement of the scope of operations.

Upon the conclusion of the present offering, the common stock of the company will be dealt in on the New York Curb.

A letter has been received from C. E. Barker, President of the company, regarding the company's business. We summarize as follows the salient features of this letter:

The Stanwood Rubber Company owns a large, modern, fireproof factory located on the dividing line between Elizabeth and Newark, N. J., which, when fully equipped, will have a capacity of 1000 automobile tires and 2000 tubes per day. The company has acquired the rights to use a special process in the manufacture of tires, which process is said to produce a tougher and more wear-resisting tire than any made by any other method. Gross business of this plant for the first full production year is estimated in excess of $6,000,000. The company has just acquired nearly all of the preferred and common stock of the Hardman Rubber Corporation of New Brunswick, N. J. This company has been established for many years and has a reputation for making especially high grade tires. Through the acquisition of this controlling interest by Stanwood Rubber Company, the Hardman Rubber Corporation will be provided with ample working capital and sufficient additional equipment to bring its production immediately to 500 tires and 1500 tubes per day. This will mean an additional gross business of about $3,500,000 per year. Arrangements have been made whereby a tire distributing organization which has distributing branches in twelve different cities, and twenty-four other retail distributors, will take a large part of the Stanwood Rubber Company's initial output.

Particular features of strength with reference to the common stock of this company are as follows:

1. Net earnings of the company for the first full production year of the Elizabeth-Newark plant are estimated as over $4 per share on the amount of common stock outstanding.

2. The management of the company is in the hands of men who have achieved a striking success in the rubber industry, and who have made a large personal investment in the common stock of the company.

3. The assured sale of a large part of its initial output at a satisfactory profit.

4. The outlook for the rubber industry has never been more promising, the probability being that the demand for tires in 1919 and 1920 will be materially in excess of the supply.

As members of the syndicate which has underwritten and sold a large part of the present issue of common stock of Stanwood Rubber Co., we recommend this security as one of unusual investment merits and marked possibilities for an increase in value. Subject to prior sale and advance in price, we offer a limited number of shares for public subscription at

$17.00 Per Share

Subscription books will close at 3 P. M. on October 24th.
Trading will begin on the New York Curb at 10 A. M. October 27th.

Cantilever Suspension Solves Economy and Comfort in Light Cars

[illegible] spring suspension [illegible] has been [illegible] the problem [illegible] light automobiles [illegible] and economy [illegible] of similar [illegible]

ADVANTAGES DEMONSTRATED.

In two years of continuous tests, more exacting than the most extreme service, devised to [illegible] cars built upon the unique spring construction, have demonstrated its advantages. As a result of endorsement of its practicability, the Society of Automotive Engineers has officially favored it.

The three point cantilever spring construction in which the rear springs are [illegible] gives greater comfort to the passenger. It relieves automobile the [illegible] of the car. This fact [illegible] contributes to greater economy of upkeep and prolongs the life of the car.

SPRING SUSPENSION FEATURE.

The spring suspension is but one of the epoch making engineering features which are embodied in the new Six it is said. Several other new principles which make for greater efficiency and economy are involved in construction.

These together with the fact that the number of parts have been reduced to a minimum and that all remaining parts are readily accessible gives this car a new and definite place in the automobile industry.

200 "Dead" Army Cars Sold for $62,067.50

Washington, Oct. 22.—At Camp Holabird, Baltimore, recently, 200 unserviceable army motor vehicles comprising Dodge passenger cars, Peerless, Nash-Quad and Garfords were sold for $62,087.50. Ask Mr. Fixit

Mr. Fixit will answer questions relative to [illegible] Address inquiries to Ask Mr. Fixit, Boston American.

Dear Mr. Fixit: I have a Ford [illegible] and [illegible] when I step on the [illegible] before it engages. After it starts it runs good but when I step on the [illegible] it makes a grating noise. [illegible] Please tell me what is the trouble and how to remedy it. [illegible]

You have adjusted the bands too closely but probably you forgot to set up on them after [illegible] that clutter again, so it will be necessary to [illegible] Locate some [illegible] which pedal so that [illegible] pedal will release farther by you next step on it. The adjusting screw that comes in contact with the [illegible] lever on the outside. You can set this so that the clutch will be thrown out when the pedal is [illegible] You can make this adjustment yourself.

Some drivers make a practice of throwing the gears in high after stopping for the night. Then throw the lever back and forth several times before starting in the morning. This will help set up the oil between the gears and have a tendency to stop the dragging when you start your motor. Also set up on your emergency brakes so that they will hold the car. This is done by adjusting each brake rod. Any Ford dealer can sell you a special grease retainer for the rear wheel, which consists of a steel cup and felt and asbestos washers. This will probably overcome your trouble from oil leakage.

Dear Mr. Fixit: While boring last week in a lumberyard I burned out a few engine bearing connecting rods and [illegible] that impossible to [illegible] a temporary repair I had to be towed to my garage at an enormous expense. Will you please tell me [illegible] to use that will temporary repair when [illegible] possible to [illegible] road?

H. A. [illegible], Worcester.

There is a temporary repair which I have heard of but cannot vouch for how good it is. However, anything that will save cutting a crank shaft is worth trying. Cut a piece of leather from a belt or any thick leather which you may have [illegible] and by the way, it is a good plan to always carry some good leather in your tool box) and fit it into the bearing flange where the babbit has burned out. Then screw this up tight and it is said that it will carry you quite a few miles before it wears out.

Dear Mr. Fixit: Please tell me my trouble. I have an Oakland auto six. I do not know just what year it is. It runs well, except I have trouble engaging the gears. There is a grinding and a jerk and sometimes it is almost impossible to get into high from second. The clutch does not drag and I am at a loss to know the cause of this. Any suggestion you may have to offer will be appreciated.

L. W. [illegible], Needham.

Should judge your trouble comes from your shafts being out of alignment. Test the bearings in the transmission case for any play especially the main drive shaft bearing and the clutch bearing. If the clutch shaft bearing is out of alignment this will cause your trouble.

SHORE ROAD USED IN BANGOR AUTO TRIP

A reader writes in for the route to Bangor, Maine. The Newburyport Turnpike is closed so that the Shore Road will have to be followed to Newburyport, then on via the direct road to Portland.

The best route from there is to go to Brunswick, then to Richmond, Gardiner, Augusta and on to Waterville. From Waterville take the direct road through Burnham to Unity field and Bangor.

Coming back it is possible to make a pleasant trip following the coast from Rockland down to Portland, but the route is much longer.

Thousands Can Own the New Economic Six

AMERICAN inventive genius has triumphed again. Efficiency has cut dollar after dollar from the cost of production. A series of typically American forward steps have made this possible and have thereby greatly increased the buying power of the average man's automobile dollar.

Here is a remarkable automobile, moderate in cost, light in weight, easy to handle, remarkably safe and economic; yet a smart classy car, posessing all of the easy-riding qualities of a big, luxurious, heavy car, a Six with Pride of Ownership stamped all over it.

Naturally the question is, "How is this possible?"

And the answer is: "Radically New, but thoroughly tested and proven Principles of Construction—and Quanity Production.

A new type of three point Cantilever Spring Suspension gives this 112-inch wheel-base car the rolling ease and freedom from road-shock of a car of 142 inch wheel-base. The wheels also hug the road-bed, avoid side-slip, and lunging ahead.

The chassis is a marvel of simplicity and lightness. Weight is approximately 2100 pounds. Lightness, combined with new efficiencies developed in the engine, get big results from gasoline, averaging 17 to 20 miles per gallon during the 200,000 miles of testing.

Quality is inbuilt—over two years of testing demonstrated it.

The plant, where the new six will be built, is as wonderful as the Six itself, and occupies close to two million square feet of floor space. Every modern and new device is employed to save labor, increase accuracy, and reduce manufacturing costs—the result is big production—400 to 500 completed Sixes per day.

The new Six is the fourth great industry to be added to the enterprises of the Willys Corporation. The Electric Auto-Lite has been placed on over 1,400,000 automobiles and is easily the leading starting and lighting equipment of today. New Process Gears are standard with most of the great manufacturers of automobile, trucks and tractors—making the Willys Company one of the great leaders in the Gear Cutting industry. The Willys-Light, although a new unit of the business, booked orders for 20,000 sets of farm and house lighting systems during the month of August alone.

The factories of these units—at Toledo, O., Syracuse and Poughkeepsie, N. Y.—together with other controlled and closely allied industries, will supply practically everything needed for the new Six that is not produced in the parent plant itself.

Anyone desiring further information about the plans and the car program of the Willys Corporation should write for our booklet.

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

Grandma kept her locks dark, glossy and youthful with a simple mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

The old time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color which is quite sensible as we all must expect to age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the trouble of gathering the sage and then making a tea, as all drug stores sell the ready-to-use product improved by the addition of other ingredients called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your sponge or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time, by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that abundant appearance of shining luster which is attractive. This ready-to-use preparation is darkening to the gray hair, but is not sticky or greasy, nor does it rub off. Adv.

Profiteering by inferiority

WHEN raw materials and labor cost more, the finished product costs more. And "costs more" has to go all the way thru to the consumer; it just has to, or business stops

But profiteering is another thing; it charges more in proportion to cost than a fair margin; or worse, it charges more for merchandise that is not up to a high grade. That's the meanest form of profiteering

We know our clothing is higher priced; we wish it were not. But we shall not make it lower priced by letting down the quality. We set the all-wool standard for ourselves years ago; we've lived up to it ever since

SECRETARY HOUSTON'S AUTO TOUR HALTED

Asheville, N. C., Oct. 22.—Secretary Houston, of the Department of Agriculture, who arrived here on an auto tour, is reported to have received an urgent message summoning him back to Washington.

Washington, Oct. 22.—Inquiry at the Department of Agriculture failed to reveal any reason for Secretary Houston being called back to the capital. Mr. Houston's private secretary said he was not aware that any such message had been sent. He said he knew of no matter requiring Mr. Houston's immediate attention.

Dyspepsia and Home Life

What a Relief When All the Family Eat the Same Foods! Avoid Dyspepsia, Sour Risings, Gas —Indigestion from Breakfast Sausage to Dinner Mince Pie.

After mother has struggled two or three hours over a hot fire to do the cooking for a hungry family it is real enjoyment when there isn't a dyspeptic jinx among them. Of course, a case of dyspepsia or daily indigestion must be looked after. But it is far more to the point to prevent as well as to treat sour stomach, belching, water brash, etc., by such a valuable means as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Coddling the stomach with soft food and predigested stuff merely invites sluggishness.

Eat your little pork sausages for breakfast without fears; have a plate of beans and a piece of pie with cheese for lunch, and end the day with a real dinner, instead of a bowl of bread and milk. Follow each meal with a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet and get right back to your natural self.

These tablets digest food and assist the stomach to prepare the content for assimilation in the intestinal tract. Thus you get the practical relief and help which induces a better appetite and a greater freedom in the selection of foods. You will find Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets on sale at any drug store in the United States and Canada, as they are considered one of the stand-bys by the druggist.

Dandruff Surely Destroys the Hair

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.—Advertisement

BANISH CATARRH

Breathe Hyomei for Two Minutes and Relieve Stuffed-Up Head

If you want to get relief from catarrh, cold in the head or from an irritating cough in the shortest time, breathe Hyomei.

It should clean out your head and open up your nose in two minutes and allow you to breathe freely.

Hyomei often ends a cold in one day and brings quick relief from snuffles, hard crusts in the nose, hawking, spitting and catarrhal mucus.

Hyomei is made chiefly from a soothing, healing antiseptic oil, that comes from the eucalyptus forests of inland Australia, where Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis, Tonsilitis, Influenza, Pneumonia and Consumption were never known to exist.

Hyomei is pleasant and easy to breathe. Just pour a few drops into the hard rubber inhaler, use as directed and relief is almost certain.

A complete Hyomei outfit, including inhaler and one bottle of Hyomei, costs but little—at druggists everywhere. If you already own an inhaler you can get an extra bottle of Hyomei at druggists.

'HARD FOR POOR TO GET JUSTICE IN COURTS'

Carnegie Foundation Investigator Urges New Methods for Handling Legal Difficulties

It is difficult for poor persons to obtain justice in the courts, sometimes so difficult that it is almost impossible for the poor to relieve themselves of ills and abuses that afflict them, because of the system generally prevailing in the civil and criminal courts. This fact is brought out in a report of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, issued today under the title "Justice and the Poor."

Injustice in many forms to the poor seeking relief in the courts is emphasized in the report which is the work of Reginald Heber Smith, member of the Boston Bar, who spent three years in its preparation.

The establishment of new types of courts and the rapid development and extension of legal aid organizations and defenders in criminal cases for the protection of poor citizens and immigrants is strongly urged so that the denial of justice which now exists may be speedily ended. A foreword by Elihu Root, the former United States Senator, very tersely states

DEFECTS IN SYSTEM.

"The administration of American justice is not impartial. The rich and the poor do not stand on an equality before the law. The traditional method of providing justice has operated to close the doors of the courts to the poor. It has caused a gross denial of justice in all parts of the country to millions of persons."

Defects in our judicial system which deprive the poor of justice such as is their right by the constitution and democracy were found to be: Delays which deplete the pocketbook; expenses which the State levies in the form of court costs and fees, and the expense of lawyer services. Small courts in Cleveland and Chicago, according to Mr. Smith's report, have been strikingly successful in dealing with small debts, wage claims, tenants' troubles and the like.

In these so-called "small courts," the procedure is informal and the judge talks with the parties in dispute and their witnesses. Without the intervention of a lawyer he conciliates the parties if he can and if he cannot, renders his legal judgment. In domestic difficulties the modern domestic relations courts of are given as the best examples in the United States. In these courts a high grade probation staff is engaged in smoothing out domestic wrinkles.

TOO MANY DELAYS.

"We can end the existing denial of justice to the poor if we can secure an administration of justice which shall be accessible to every person, no matter how humble," Mr. Smith writes in his report in advocating a more equal administration of justice.

"The machinery of the law often moves too slowly, and there is a certain amount of lubrication necessary for wheels of justice in the form of court costs and fees. If persons are too poor to supply this lubrication they are debarred from seeking redress.

"Industrial accident commissions have erected administrative machinery, which quickly disposes of greater proportion of injured workmen. Such commissions exist in nearly all States. The question for legal aid organizations is how far this new administration in accident cases can be extended into other departments of law. The settlement of disputes by agreements, instead of through the courts, achieves an entire freedom and equality of justice."

Pedestrians run over by a street car or other vehicle, or the driver of a team in collision very probably could, to an extent, be served by conducting their claims on the basis of the accident commissions, the report says.

LYNN MAN ARRESTED ON BIGAMY CHARGE

Albert J. Ferguson, twenty-four, of South Common street, Lynn, an employe of the General Electric Company, was arrested by Inspector Frank W. Stevens, on a polygamy charge. The police alleged that Ferguson had two wives. His first wife, they say, he married November 7, 1915. She was Catherine Manning of Lewiston, Me. On June 28, they charge, he married May Waters of Laurel street, Lynn. Shortly after the marriage, the police say, wife No. 2 discovered that her husband had been married before. This was while he was at Camp Devens. She left him.

HARVARD CLAIM NOT GOOD

With Yale already defeated and Princeton apparently [illegible] for a trouncing, Harvard victories over both of them would scarcely entitle the Crimson to [illegible] tion as that which [illegible] cuse or Dartmouth [illegible] would gain in [illegible] taking on [illegible] ponents.

Brickley said that the dropping of Dartmouth and Penn State and other strong teams by the Harvard schedule makers was very unpopular with New York Harvard men and that the alleged theory of pointing the Crimson team always toward the game with Yale made [illegible] them.

Cavanaugh, [illegible] was in hearty agreement [illegible] lieve in giving [illegible] squad something [illegible] forward to each [illegible] game mean something to them and they find real enjoyment in the football season. Kane and Sedgwick are still holding out at tackles, and look like fixtures for the remainder of the season. Both are six-footers and play the high game which Harvard demands of her tackles. Hubbard is the third best candidate and McCagg, a big crew man, is making a hard fight to place.

Clark and Woods are the regular guards for the Virginia game, and Havemeyer will play centre. All stood up well under the hard game last week. Philbin, the varsity pivotal holder early in the season, will probably not attempt to play [illegible] next week, although [illegible]

TUFTS HOPES FOR VICTORY OVER YALE

[illegible] (at end and centre) Halfback K[illegible]

Centre Prior of the Brown and Blue Eleven.

Heartened by the record Boston College made against the Yale team, Coach Whelan's Tufts team is working as never before at the Oval in preparation for the game at New Haven Saturday.

The lineup of the Tufts team, if judged on the reputations made by the men in college or school football, is one that merits more serious consideration than is indicated by the record of the team thus far this season.

Seldom has the start of the season found Tufts' prospects brighter than those of this year. A line that averaged more than 200 pounds from tackle to tackle, and ends and backfield men of proven ability, made up the first string array that took the field for the initial practice, and all Tufts supporters looked forward to a wonderful season.

A wrench got mixed up in the football machinery, however—in fact, several wrenches—for the Tufts injured and disabled list from the first week of practice has been appalling in its proportions; and the result has been a one-point defeat at the hands of Springfield and a narrow-margined win over Norwich.

This week the cripples are returning, and Tufts has high hopes of duplicating the feat of Boston College against Yale.

SCRUBS KEEP B.C. VARSITY HUSTLING

The Boston College football team today began to pick up its stride for the coming game with West Point next Saturday. To date Coach Frank Cavanaugh has permitted the boys to take it fairly easy after their strenuous game with Yale, but now he has begun to [illegible] things humming again.

In the Yale game the B. C. line [illegible] hard work [illegible] week, and [illegible] high [illegible] attention.

One of the most encouraging features of the game so far has been the steady and consistent playing of Jim Doyle at [illegible] Doyle is a former Boston [illegible] School star, and has fitted [illegible] Cavanaugh's scheme of [illegible] every game he has been [illegible] outweighed by his opp[onent] [illegible] has outplayed [illegible] in college football [illegible] Cavanaugh's tutelage.

The injury to Frank Morrissey's ear has forced his retirement from the game for this year and left a big gap at the other guard position. Kelly, whose style of play is similar to Doyle's, has taken Morrissey's position.

In today's scrimmage Joe Walsh the [illegible] Forest Hills boy, piloted Team B [illegible] the varsity [illegible] the best out of his eager [illegible] bunch and the varsity often [illegible] full in breaking up the [illegible] their understudies.

CLASS TRACK MEET ON TUFTS OVAL FRIDAY

The freshman-sophomore track meet of Tufts College, Medford, will be held on the Oval Friday. The freshmen [illegible] on F. G. Griffin, the [illegible] Washington star; W. Grant, who [illegible] the 220-yard dash in last year's Suburban League meet, and H. D. Mosby, a runner of promise from the Central High School of Washington, D. C.

YALE WILL USE NEW TEAM IN TUFTS GAME

New Haven, Oct. 22.—Carter Galt will be the only Yale veteran to be sent into the lineup Saturday against Tufts, according to the coaches' plans which were announced today. The 2[illegible] pound Hawaiian will be acting captain till the return of Tim Callahan, which may occur next week, although the three doctors who are coaches of the eleven—Sharpe, Brides and Hull—state that they will play no veterans who are out of condition.

Jim Braden has left the hospital, but one [illegible] will not scrimmage before next week. The indications are that Fred Graham and Spider Reinhardt will get the end rush nominations against Tufts although Reinhardt has not played in practice this week. His work against Boston College was the most brilliant of any of the four men tried by Yale.

Graham got into the scrimmage after three weeks absence and was immediately installed at end. He is six feet [illegible] weighs 180 pounds and is very fast. Jack [illegible] who has [illegible] of the end rush squad, regards him highly.

Today's coaching plans called for lively scrimmaging, but most of the first string players will be kept on the side lines till Saturday's game. Yale's chance of defeating Tufts Saturday depends upon the form of Quarterback Herbert Kempton, who has been made Eli field general through the disability of Thomas Murphy and the reduction to the ranks of Chester La Roche. Kempton [illegible] shown All-America form [illegible] the season.

It is doubtful whether Tufts can check him Saturday. More than half the positions on the team against Tufts will remain unsettled till tomorrow. Today it was reasonably sure that Kempton would be at quarter, Galt at right guard and Galvin at centre.

Aside from Kempton and Galt the eleven has no stars, and Head Coach Sharpe faces the task of developing an eleven from a large squad of evenly balanced candidates. He has been handicapped by the largest number of accidents ever recorded during the first month of any Yale season.

B.C.H.-ST. JOHNS GAME SHOULD BE PLAYED

Prep School Contest Would Be Fitting Climax of Successful School Season

By TOM POWER.

About the only thing lacking to make the already brilliant school football season a complete success is the playing of a Boston College High-St. John's Prep game. These two teams have been rivals since St. John's Prep entered its first team on the field more than ten years ago and have played each other every year.

The game of last year caused several misunderstandings which, while they do not amount to much, has resulted in the game being scratched this year. It would be a very easy matter for the two managements to get together, fix everything up and allow the teams to continue playing each year.

Leo Daley, coach of Boston College High, would not say whether or not he favored resuming relations with the Danvers institution but from his remarks concerning his own team, which he said he would be willing to match against any school team in the State, it may be inferred that a Boston College High-St. John's Prep contest would not be displeasing to him.

PREFERS TO WAIT.

Brother Magella, faculty manager of the St. John's team, said that, while he would like to have the two teams meet he thought it would be better for the misunderstanding between the two schools to die down gradually, and then, after a few years, resume playing.

But why wait for three years, or [illegible] to do what could be done very easily this season? If it would be a good plan to resume playing together in a few years, why would it not be even better to stage a game this year?

Both schools are represented by strong teams and could [illegible] on a game that would prove to be one of the stellar attractions of the season. There is no way as yet to compare the relative strengths of the teams as neither has played against the same teams. Saturday St. John's will meet St. James High, and B. C. High defeated 24 to [illegible] While it is a risky way to compare teams the score in the game Saturday will give some line on how the two teams would play against one another.

HAVE SAME DATE OPEN.

Both teams have an open date November 1, which would be an ideal day for them to meet. This was generally the time that the games were played in former years.

Every year the alumni of both schools have come from all over the country to see this game and it seems a pity to have so many of the former students of the schools disappointed. Let's hope the two schools will get together, drop all their petty grievances and let the annual St. John's and Boston College High School game be played.

SKULL PRACTICE FOR WEST POINT GRIDDERS

West Point, N. Y., Oct. 2[2].—Because of the visit of the Secretary of War and the French Mission and the attendant exercises [illegible] to the presentation of a statue to the French Military Academy at West Point, the army football squad had to forego its field drill and confine its gridiron activities to a chalk talk in the gym and a light signal practice. Some weaknesses very apparent in the Maine game were the theme of the coaches' arguments. Although McQuarrie and Schabacker are around, they have not yet been discharged from the Red Cross squad. If they get back along with some of the other principals for today's midweek workout in preparation for the Boston College game Saturday, army supporters will have hopes of a creditable showing for the eleven at least.

ELLIS AND WRAY DIRECT PENN SQUAD

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 22.—The Penn varsity backfield combination was directed in turn by Sammy Ellis and Rex Wray. [illegible] was the first to lead the attack in some mock scrimmaging. Then Wray took up the detail. Brunner was on the field, but did nothing on account of his twisted ankle. Billy Morris and Mike Dee, the liniment pair, worked for some time in bringing Penn's bruised member to condition.

Danny McNichol displayed a wonderful offensive game in the absence of Brunner. For the first string, in scrimmage against the scrubs, McNichol behind [illegible] woven interference, ran for great distances. Derr, Strauss and Pearce also took turns behind the varsity line, and their work was of the most creditable nature.

COLGATE FIRST STRING ELEVEN IS RESTING UP

Hamilton, N. Y., Oct. 22.—The Colgate football squad took the field in a drenching rain, with the first string men still on the side lines. The coaching staff is taking [illegible] with the best men of the [illegible] and is giving the eleven men who started in the Cornell game a thorough opportunity to recover from the minor injuries they received. The second and third teams, however, were drilled in a long workout, which consisted for the most part of a gruelling scrimmage lasting a full hour.

Yanks Sign Outfielder.

New York, Oct. 22.—Benny Deiser, an outfielder, who won the high batting honors in the Shipyard League during the past season with an average of .418, has been signed for a trial with the Yankees next season. Deiser's home is at Astoria, L. I.

U. S. Golfers Planning Tour of Europe

By ROBERT E. HARLOW.

One of the tourist agencies has begun an investigation of the possibility of conducting a golfers' tour next season which would give a limited number of Americans a chance of travelling to England and Europe in congenial company and of playing over the most famous of the old world courses.

The tour would be arranged so that members of the party would be present at one of the important British tournaments, the open, if possible, and thus have the added opportunity of watching the British cracks in action. The British open is likely to be the foremost golfing event in the 1920 schedule, as a strong entrance list from America is expected to add international flavor to it.

The tour idea might work out, although golfers are an independent lot and do not as a rule care to have their goings and comings mapped out by a tourist agent. A foreign trip, however, is a bit different than a jaunt around a circuit of American clubs, and golfers might be glad to join a party in which the arrangements were made for them. It would require a great deal of work to obtain playing dates and proper transportation and accomodations in the golfing centres.

UP TO TOURIST AGENT.

Such a tour was in the making the Winter before Europe went to war. About a dozen players in the Boston district had signified their eagerness to join it.

There is no doubt that American golfers would appreciate a visit to St Andrews, Muirfield, Prestwick, Sandwich, Hoylake and Deal, courses over which the British amateur and professionals have settled their championships for many years. Just how willing the officers of these famous lay-outs would be to allow an American party to use their property is not known, but it is safe to say that if fifty Americans crossed the ocean to try British turf they would not be refused. At any rate, it would be up to the tourist man to settle such matters in advance.

CAN WATCH OPEN TOURNEY.

It is certain there would be nothing to prevent the Americans from being spectators at the British open, and this alone would be a worth while treat. Walter Hagen, our open champion is going to play and will induce many other American stars to go along with him. The top notch American golfers are not satisfied with the showing Americans have made up to the present in British championship play, and are anxious for the next big event on the other side.

In the event of the tour being arranged the agent having it in mind would include a visit to the battlefields of France and Belgium in the itinerary, as no party of Americans would be satisfied to go across without visiting the places made famous by the U. S. E. F. By next season battlefield tours will be so well organized that no difficulty would be encountered in adding this feature to a golfers party.

Reports from the other side indicate that there has been a revival of golfing interest and that the championship courses will be in shape by another season. A number of tournaments have been held in England this Fall and these attracted all of the leading professionals.

Notes of the Golfers

Alex (Nipper) Campbell is back in Boston after a season at Baltimore. He is not to return to Baltimore and has offers from a Western and Eastern club.

* * *

Oakley appears to be the best bait which is out for professionals in the Boston district, and a number have applied for the place which Mike Brady is leaving.

Boston golfers are enjoying a mixed foresome at Winchester Country Club today. These events are popular in the Fall, when the more serious competition is over for the season.

More than 86,000 golfers started from the first tee at the Van Courtland public golf links in New York from the opening of the season to October 20. Sundays brought out from 700 to 800 players. Three professionals were kept busy.

SCRIMMAGE IS CUT OUT AT HANOVER

Hanover, N. H., Oct. 22.—With several of the football squad still under the weather as the result of the hard fought Penn State game, Coach Spears cut out scrimmage work and sent the Green varsity through a peppery signal drill.

More were added to Dartmouth's hospital list. It is possible that both Guy Cogswell, first string right end, and Bill Streng, who put up a speedy game at the other wing Saturday, will be unable to break into the Cornell game at the Polo Grounds. Both of these men were used up in the Penn State contest and have not yet returned to active work with the squad. The possibility of their inability to play Saturday makes the end situation decidedly serious.

Suttmeier, Worth, Threshie and Gordon are all being given a lot of attention in case any one of them may be called upon. A crowd of several hundred undergraduates will follow the eleven to New York, together with the college band. An attempt to gain a maximum number of rooters for the battle will be made at a big mass meeting during the week.

MIKE CALLAHAN GOES AT CENTRE FOR TIGERS

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 22.—With Mike Callahan at centre for the first time this year and Captain McGraw at right guard instead of right tackle, a changed Tiger 'varsity started the final drive in preparation for the game with Colgate Saturday.

Forty minutes of the hardest kind of scrimmage between the second team and the 'varsity took up most of the practice time. Very little preliminary play prevailed, what there was of it consisting principally of a short starting and charging drill for the forwards and a period of handling kicks for the ends and backfield men.

Team B scored once on the first string selections and came within a few yards of repeating on two subsequent occasions. Nat Poe, who had the eleven under his care, primed them with several new offensive tactics before they took the field, and they worked with a fair amount of success against the 'varsity.

CORNELL PREPARING FOR DARTMOUTH GAME

Ithaca, N. Y., Oct. 22.—Cornell has begun its drive for a comeback against Dartmouth, Saturday, on the Polo Grounds, New York. The return of several first-string men, unable to play against Colgate, will materially strengthen the Ithacans. Davies, left half, and one of the best players on the squad, is one of these. Another is Right End Wilson.

James J. Munns, fighting leader of the 1912 team, which broke the long string of Penn victories on Franklin Field, is assisting the coaching staff this week.

"Baltimore" Baseball Failure in Series

By HUGH S. FULLERTON.

Is there anything wrong with the "Baltimore School" of baseball?

The Baltimore school is the system used by the famous old Baltimore Orioles. It consists of a dashing, slap-bang attack, a quick change of style, a sudden onslaught—and victory. The Orioles were the greatest exponents of the taking-a-chance system in baseball and of forcing the attack, winning not so much through their own efforts as by breaking the defensive of the opposition.

Four of the famous old Orioles are now major league managers—McGraw, Jennings, Robinson and Gleason. They have been tremendously successful on their own circuits and their style of play has prevailed year after year. McGraw has captured five National League pennants, Jennings has three American League championships, two credit, and Gleason and Robinson one each. It would seem on the face of such returns that the Baltimore system is a winner.

But out of ten efforts the four Orioles have succeeded only once in capturing a world's championship.

Is it possible that the system which works so well during their own season will not win in a short world's series? Or do they change the method when they meet the opposition? Or, as a third idea, will such an attack prevail against a strong defensive such as is always encountered in these baseball classics?

McGRAW ONLY WINNER.

McGraw won the only World's Championship that ever has fallen to the Managers' Association of ex-Orioles, and he did not win it by that kind of baseball. He won by the superior pitching of Mathewson. He came within a hair of beating the Boston Red Sox once by the sheer impetuosity of his attack after the series appeared lost. In the recent series Gleason's team seemed to change its style entirely. It made no effort during the earlier games to pull off the kind of ye-kiree, daring plays that won it the American League pennant. It was not until the sixth contest with the score 4 to 0 against them that the White Sox cut loose in their accustomed style, and they at once smashed Cincinnati's defensive play.

But I am beginning to doubt whether this style of assault can win consistently against a steady defense and good pitching.

There was one bit of strategy that went to waste in the World's Series. That was in the fifth game which was played in Chicago. It serves to show how closely the final managers study tactics and each strives to outguess his rival.

The White Sox were extremely anxious to have Dutch Reuther pitch against them. They felt that Dutch had been lucky to beat them the first game and, in fact, declared he never would have had a chance except for the fact his team-mates piled up a big lead for him. The Sox hit him healthily all the way, but they were behind and forced to keep hitting. They couldn't afford to work him for a shut-out. There was too big a margin against them. They argued that, had the score been close, Reuther would have wilted and been beaten. The truth is that Dutch was all in before the game was over and sick from hard pitching and hard running.

RUN SPOILS PLOT.

Moran made the casual remark before the game that, if Gleason used a right handed pitcher, he would use a left handed one—meaning Reuther, but if Gleason worked Williams, he would start Eller. The news was carried to Gleason who at once laid a plan. He intended to use Williams but he wanted Moran to pitch Reuther. He arranged to have Bill James warm up before the game. If he could force Moran even to warm up Reuther for ten minutes he believed Dutch would be out of the series entirely, and badly beaten if he tried to pitch Meantime, he planned to have Williams all ready under the stands, where he would do his preliminary work and announce him as the pitcher too late for Moran to switch to Eller, or if he did switch, to catch Eller unwarned

The plan didn't work out—the Sunday rain gave Reuther an extra day of rest and spoiled the plot

There is a lot of that kind of preliminary jockeying before ball games that count for much in a championship race. I remember one day getting to the Polo Grounds early. The Giants were to play and Rube Waddell was expected to pitch against them—and Rube in those days was a terror to the clubs who were not strong against left handed twirling.

LURED WADDELL.

There were few persons in the stands; the teams were not yet on the field. A batter was at the plate during fouls and in right center John McGraw was prancing around catching flies and throwing the ball back to the catcher. It is not fun for a fat man who has retired from active service to shag flies in the outfield, and I thought Mac was trying to get down to rend him on love a knight. Imagine my surprise when he began to make long throws to the plate. It is not fun for a fellow whose arm had been dead and sore for many years to hurl a baseball long distances, but McGraw kept it up patiently and gamely.

Pretty soon Rube Waddell came from the clubhouse. McGraw caught a fly ball and heaved the ball to the plate. Rube looked interested, stopped and talked

"I'll bet you five you can't outthrow me," taunted McGraw in response to the Rube's "kidding."

Rube grabbed the ball and threw it to the plate. For ten minutes they hurled the pill, then McGraw reluctantly admitted that the Rube could out-throw him and paid over the $5.

Rube went to the slab and lasted the greater part of the first inning. McGraw had laid the trap, had kidded Waddell into making six or seven long distance throws and had won a ball games thereby.

Scully Is Elected B. C. Cross-Country Captain

George F. Scully, recently discharged from the army where he served as a lieutenant for seventeen months, has been elected captain of the Boston College cross-country team. He is a veteran of the 1917 team and is a consistent runner.

The team began practice last week, and some promising material has reported to Coach Jack Ryder. Boston College is fortunate in having such an ideal place as the hills of Newton for its cross-country team.

PAL MOORE DEFEATS HAHN IN EIGHT ROUNDS

Memphis, Oct. 22—Pal Moore, Memphis bantamweight, was awarded an eight-round decision here over Bernie Hahn of Philadelphia, after a hard fight. Moore earned the decision but it was not until the last three rounds that the native son brought into action a whipping left to the stomach that earned him the victory.

'FITCHBURG PAT' IS HONORED BY HOME FOLKS

Fitchburg, Oct. 22—A prophet is not without renown in his own home town. Fitchburg folks let Pat Moran know it and more, too, at the greatest celebration ever staged here in honor of a "native son."

Originally intended to be a West Fitchburg preliminary to a public reception and banquet scheduled for tomorrow night, the testimonial became widespread and people from all parts of the city and many from nearby places participated.

A parade of four divisions with civic service men in uniform and three bands was the opening feature of the celebration. The men and women on foot and in automobiles, some gorgeously decorated, covered all the principal streets in the West End and the line of march was brilliant with red fire, a ton of which had been distributed by the committee in charge of the party.

Pat and invited guests rode in automobiles in the division of the Young Men's Catholic Union of the Sacred Heart Church, of which Pat has been a member for many years and which marched a few hundred strong.

Next followed the Holy Rosary juvenile band of Gardner, an army, four baseball team in uniform, and boys' clubs from shops and mills. One of these was from the Park Mill Gingham Mills, in which Pat worked when a youngster. In the third division, headed by the Holdstein Drum Corps, citizens, men, women and children, marched. They were followed by the automobile section which was a feature in itself.

Pat was given a gold diamond studded K. of C. fob to replace one presented to him by a Cincinnati K. of C. council at Redland field clubhouse during the series, which was lost.

As the parade was finishing a heavy downpour of rain caused all plans for the outdoor festivities to be cancelled and instead of holding the evening celebration at Stanley Field it was held in Institute Hall. The community singing had to be postponed.

HARVARD MUST ELECT NEW TRACK CAPTAIN

An update Bill Moore of the Harvard track team, football and college baseball star, having completed requirements for his degree in the Summer School, the Crimson team will have to elect a new leader Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Billy suffered a pulled tendon in France while running in the athletic meets and was told by his specialist that he could not run for another year returned to college during the Summer and finished up his academic work. He was re-elected captain of the crimson track team after the intercollegiates last May.

Benny O'Connell, who suffered a sprained ankle a few weeks ago in the American Legion games at Braves Field, will probably be back in trim to run against the Yale harriers in another month.

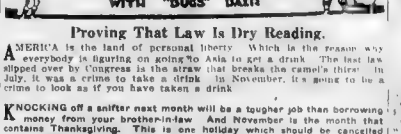
Proving That Law Is Dry Reading.

AMERICA is the land of personal liberty. Which is the reason why everybody is figuring on going to Asia to get a drink. The last law slipped over by Congress is the straw that breaks the camel's thirst. In July, it was a crime to take a drink. In November, it's going to be a crime to look as if you have taken a drink.

KNOCKING off a snifter next month will be a tougher job than borrowing money from your brother-in-law. And November is the month that contains Thanksgiving. This is one holiday which should be cancelled for the duration of the Democratic administration.



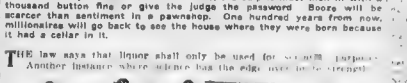
THIS new moratorium on booze peddler will be permanent like interest on second mortgages. Some cuckoos may continue to indulge through habit, but the old booze house is deader than the Hohenzollern dynasty. The birds who could drink either a little or a lot will do neither after the first of the month. At this confused moment it is impossible to tell whether the war caused prohibition or prohibition caused the war.

YOU always noticed that the sapp who chirped most about the old moss covered bucket always gave the bucket plenty of opportunity to get moss on it. If you see the same bimbo next month with foam on his mustache, you will know that he has nothing but a fit. As Hindenburg said, as he wet his ears in a stein of Wurtzburger, "The Germans didn't lose anything except the war."

ANYBODY who sailed a keg of headache oil away before the war is entitled to it. One keg of booze will last a lifetime provided you don't drink yourself to death. Even then it will. You can treat your friends to your booze and the Government can't stop it. But it's a damn one fault if he has friends during these dry days.

IT is a misdemeanor to move liquor from one State to another. It is a misdemeanor to move liquor from the District of Columbia to any State. Which, is the reason why so many Congressmen want to be elected to Washington for another term. Anybody who is found soused next year will be liable to one hundred smackers' fine and thirty days in the bird cage. After the third offence, the culprit must kick in with a thousand button fine or give the judge the password. Booze will be scarcer than sentiment in a pawnshop. One hundred years from now, millionaires will go back to see the house where they were born because it had a cellar in it.

THE law says that liquor shall only be used for [illegible] purposes. Another instance where science has the edge over [illegible]



THE old-fashioned Thanksgiving habit of [illegible] pie is out. The old Christmas side dish [illegible] is also out. The Budweiser beer and [illegible] are [illegible] but gallons of liquid liver [illegible] stored in bonded warehouses but it's impossible to get it without a burglar or a doctor's prescription. And a bird who drinks up all his doctor's prescriptions now is hypothecating his future.

ALL the Schlitz signs which make our suburban Autumn so beautiful will have to be hauled down or flown at half mast.

BUT whatever you do, don't sniff up all your medicinal prescriptions now. Like the boy who hollered "Wolf," some day you may get sick and won't be able to enjoy the illness.

NOVEL PREMIUM OFFERED TO OPPONENT BY DERN

Ira Dern, the new world's middleweight champion wrestler, will appear at the Grand Opera House tomorrow night as an added attraction to the Zbyszko-Knapp match. In a stunt that will call for the exercise of every bit of his wrestling skill and power. That is nothing more nor less than an open defi in which he agrees to defeat any wrestler of not over 180 pounds inside of fifteen minutes or forfeit $50. As an inducement he adds that for every minute his opponent lasts up to ten minutes he will give $5 per minute, and after that $10 per minute to the time limit, one hour.

Mars and Saturn Conspiring

AT noon tomorrow, world's standard time, Mars and Saturn, the two "greater infortunes" of the astrologers, are in close conjunction, only five minutes of arc apart. The conjunction occurs in the constellation Leo, but the sign Virgo. Look at them tomorrow when the sun rises, and don't be alarmed by what any astrologer may say.

The Wicked Marquis

By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

Love and Revenge Centre About an Agreeable English Aristocrat of the Old School

What Has Happened

The Marquis of Mandeleys, an English nobleman of a type of days gone by, finds himself nearly bankrupt from law cases against Richard Vont, the occupant of a cottage on his estate who refuses to vacate his own property. The Marquis' solicitor informs him that the sum of eighteen thousand pounds is needed to settle the court bills and that it would be useless to make another appeal, even to the House of Lords. A young woman speaks to the Marquis in the gr[illegible] room of the Savoy and he [illegible] Thain, a young Amer[illegible] tage of the Du[illegible]ess [illegible] to the Marquis. The Marquis relates to Thain how [illegible] the daughter of Vont away [illegible]. After luncheon he calls on Mar[illegible] Hannaway. She tells him [illegible] allowance he has [illegible] been paid [illegible] row with his solicitor [illegible] Thain is given a dinner party, after which the Marquis tells Thain he would like to make [illegible] on dollars without trouble to himself and with no chance of loss. Thain suggests oil stock. Mar[illegible] tells her publisher, Jan[illegible], that she cannot marry him. She decides to go to Mandeleys with [illegible] to see her father, Ri[illegible]. Thain visits his boyhood [illegible].

"DEAR me! [illegible] the Marquis [illegible] idea, Mr. W[illegible] if you will forgive me saying so, that your firm was in so impecunious a position."

"Impecunious!" the lawyer murmured, with his eyes fixed upon his client. "I scarcely follow your lordship."

"Did I not understand you to say," the Marquis continued, "that this trifle of four hundred pounds has upset your arrangements to such an extent that you are unable to make your customary payments on my behalf?"

Seemed Trifling

"Will your lordship forgive my pointing out," Mr. Wadham explained, "that these payments are on your account, and that it is no part of the business of solicitors to finance their clients without a special arrangement? We have our own more lucrative investments continually open to us, and we are at the present moment several thousand pounds out of pocket on account of recent law expenses."

"The whole thing," the Marquis pronounced, "seems to me very trifling. State in precise terms, if you please, Mr. Wadham, the object of your visit."

"To ask for your lordship's instructions as to the payment of twelve hundred pounds interest, due tomorrow," Mr. Wadham replied. "We have eight hundred pounds in hand from Mr. Merridrew. So far from [illegible] your lordship [illegible] are, as [illegible] creditor [illegible] able amount."

The Marquis [illegible] back in his chair, the [illegible]

"It appears to me, Mr. Wadham," [illegible] quietly, "that [illegible] [illegible] the fact that I have [illegible] to [illegible] myself [illegible] a portion of the revenue [illegible]"

There [illegible] my firm [illegible] in your interest and the interests of the Mandeleys estate. At the same [illegible] the unexpected necessity for finding these sums of money is, I must confess, at times a strain [illegible]

The Marquis nodded sympathetically. He rose to his feet, crossed [illegible] desk [illegible] with a key attached [illegible] and [illegible] Mr. Wadham [illegible] the [illegible] trifle over forty thousand pounds. In fact [illegible] price for them at [illegible] week."

Greatest Shock

The young lawyer uncrossed his [illegible] He was [illegible] stocks but this one [illegible] the region of all [illegible]

Did I understand your lordship to say that you had paid forty thousand pounds for them?" he gasped.

The Marquis assented with an equable little nod.

"I was somewhat favored in the matter," he admitted, "as the value of the shares has, I believe, already considerably increased. The amount I actually paid for them was, in round figures, [illegible] thousand and one hundred pounds transfer duty, or something of that sort. I have little head for figures, as you know, Mr. Wadham. You had better take these—not for sale, mind, but for deposit at one of my banks. You will probably find that, under the circumstances, they will permit you to overdraw an additional five hundred pounds [illegible] without [illegible]"

[illegible]

The lawyer gripped the bundle [illegible] closed his eyes [illegible] them again [illegible]

"As your lordship's adviser," he said, "may I inquire as to the nature of the payment which you have made? Forty thousand pounds is not a sum which either of the banks with whom your lordship has credit—"

The Marquis waved his hand.

"My dear young friend," he explained, "it was not necessary for me to resort to banks. Mr. Thain suggested voluntarily that I should give him my note of hand for the amount. He quite understood that a man whose chief interest in the country is land does not keep such a sum as forty thousand pounds lying at his bankers."

Mr. Wadham groped for his hat.

"The shares shall be deposited, and the interest of course paid," he [illegible] "I am sorry to have troubled your lordship in the matter."

"Not at all, not at all," the Marquis replied genially. "Very pleased to see you at any time, Mr. Wadham, on any subject connected with the estates. Ah!" he added, glancing at a card which a footman at that moment had brought in, "here is my friend, Mr. David Thain. You must meet him, Mr. Wadham. Such men are rare in this country. They form most interesting adjuncts to our modern civilization. Show Mr. Thain in, Thomas."

The new neck-line showing the raglan sleeve embroidered in gold tracery distinguishes this navy blue serge frock, which shows a becoming tunic to give the new peplum effect.

This useful dress of satin and georgette cloth is for afternoon and informal evening occasions. The front of the waist and the sleeves are of georgette embroidered in self-color, with a panel of satin, giving style to the back.

Here is a stylish suit made of velour and trimmed effectively with mole skin. Not only is it smart, but practical, with the additional merit of possessing good wearing qualities.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By Beatrice Fairfax

Her Lover's Return

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I have been going about with a young man for the past two years [illegible] early. We were separated a [illegible] ago, he being drafted and sent to France. We wrote [illegible] other regularly, but he arrived in New York last month without letting me know. I went to a dance and met him there. He spoke to me and [illegible] me home the following evening. When I questioned him about not coming to see me [illegible] home over a week but was unable to make any further excuses.

D.

I AM sorry for you—but your little story really speaks for itself. It would be better if you do not see this young man any more, and if you try to recover from your love for him. Separation has evidently been too severe a test for him as it sometimes is to soldier lovers and others [illegible] I hope your heart is not too deeply involved.

Her Inconstant Lover

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX.

I would like to have your opinion of a man with whom I have been going about for the past few years and who is a salesman for a large silk concern. Three weeks ago he went to Chicago and promised before going to write me the first day he arrived. But I have not heard from him.

Do you think I should write to him, asking him to write as I love him dearly?

HELEN G.

I SEE no reason why you should write to this apparently rude and faithless young man. It might be kinder to suspend your definite judgment of him until you learn whether there is some excuse for him, though this does not seem likely. I know it is dreary counsel to say that you will probably have to try to forget him but it looks as though there were no alternative.

A Daily Recipe

By MONSIEUR CHARLES A. PERRAUDIN, Delmonico's Chef

Egg Benedict

Cut some muffins in halves crosswise, then place a round of cooked ham, not too thick, and the same size as the muffin—heat on a moderate oven, and put a poached egg on top of each toast. Cover the whole with Hollandaise sauce; a slice of truffle can be added on top as garnishing.

Scratching is dangerous, stop it with Resinol

Every time you scratch that itching rash you make it worse. The intense desire to scratch such skin disorders as eczema, humor, nettle rash and like skin ailments, may be instantly relieved when Resinol Ointment is applied to the affected parts.

It is advisable in most cases to thoroughly cleanse the inflamed spot with Resinol Soap and warm water. This accelerates the healing action of the ointment, and consequently quicker and better results are derived.

TRY MAGNESIA FOR STOMACH TROUBLE

It Neutralizes Stomach Acidity, Prevents Food Fermentation, Sour, Gassy Stomach and Acid Indigestion

[illegible] if you are a sufferer from indigestion, you have already tried pepsin, bismuth, soda, charcoal, drugs and various digestive aids and you know these things will not cure your trouble—in some cases do not even give relief.

But before giving up hope and deciding you are a chronic dyspeptic just try the effect of a little bisurated magnesia—not the ordinary commercial carbonate, citrate, oxide or milk, but the pure bisurated magnesia which you can obtain from practically any druggist in either powdered or tablet form.

Take a teaspoonful of the powder or two compressed tablets with a little water after your next meal, and see what a difference this makes. It will instantly neutralize the dangerous, harmful acid in the stomach which now causes your food to ferment and sour, making gas, wind, flatulence, heartburn and the bloated or heavy, lumpy feeling that seems to follow most everything you eat.

You will find that provided you take a little bisurated magnesia immediately after a meal, you can eat almost anything and enjoy it without any danger of pain or discomfort to follow and moreover, the continued use of the bisurated magnesia cannot injure the stomach in any way so long as there are any symptoms of acid indigestion.

CHAPTER CLXXXVIII.

Copyright, 1919, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

HARDLY had I persuaded Valerie Cosby to keep the blue robe she thought so gorgeous when a second intruder burst into my apartment. This was a trim French maid, who came in declaring that she couldn't help it—they had phoned Monsieur from the office and he was going back to town, that he'd be right up and that the saints were her witness she was not to blame. All this in French—voluble, excited.

"You understand French, of course?" asked Valerie, turning to me with a slow smile that crinkled up her eyes at the corners and narrowed them to living, black-lashed slits. Then to the maid:

"It is very good, Helene, that Monsieur returns. Otherwise, I might have been very lonely this evening. But surely you did not come down and leave Rammi?"

The last sentence was said so coldly, so accusingly, that the maid turned and dashed out, excusing herself all over again very volubly, as before.

"You have a little"——I began.

"A little dog—very little—an Egyptian toy," interrupted Mrs. Cosby quickly. "Mr. Cosby calls him Rameses, and I made his name out of that—Rammi. It just suits. Rammi weighs only a pound, and he's so silky and white—like a tiny French poodle—a fairy one."

She was all eagerness, as she had been over the robe, but soon she lapsed into her tone of thick, creamy indolence.

"I must go. Poor old Lane is always so cross if I'm not all dressed up when he comes. So I'll have to hurry out of these rags I travelled in, and make myself fine for him.

"He's a wonderful man. Everyone says so," I agreed.

A Simple Explanation

"Oh, yes. I'd never have married any but a big man—a power. I admire power. I wouldn't be the wife of a man who wasn't at the top—one of the leaders. He'll love you for spoiling me so. I do already!" And Mrs. Cosby added ingenuously, "But I'll expect you to keep it up."

It was time for me to pay Mrs. O'Callahan and hurry away in turn. For I also must be "fine" when my husband comes home.

But all the way to the hotel and all the while I was dressing I was thinking uneasily of Valerie Cosby and the blue robe. I kept telling myself that I was glad to be rid of the robe at last, that I was glad I had pleased this beautiful, over-dressed, over-sophisticated child, that I was sure I had done Jim a very good turn. But somehow that didn't settle my mind.

Now the blue robe was gone I began to regret it. Suddenly it seemed very desirable. To give away a possession so gorgeous when I hadn't any other pretty things began to look silly. I wondered how I would explain to Tom Mason. After all, I had been very high-handed with property I'd never acknowledged was mine.

In the midst of my nervous cogitations in came Jim. I turned to him suddenly with mischevious desire to know what he would say and and do. And I began by blurting out:

"Jim, I'm rid of that blue robe of Tom Mason's at last."

"Rid of it?" said Jim in a puzzled tone that might have angered me if I'd stopped to let it. "Why did you take it out of Tom's apartment if you didn't want it? All you had to do was leave it there."

"I didn't bring it. I thought, of course, you'd pack it, Jim."

"Nope; I didn't. Probably old lady O'Callahan's the guilty party. What did you do to get 'rid' of it—give it to her?"

Applause From Jim

"I gave it to Valerie Crosby," I said, enjoying my effect to the utmost. "But I was thinking I wish I'd known."

"To Valerie Cosby? Quit stringing us, Anne, and tell a fellow what you feel like doing tonight that isn't too strenuous after a previous night's sleep that was three hours long."

"Let's have dinner up here," I suggested. "But first I'll tell you about Mrs. Cosby and the robe."

I plunged into my story and Jim listened in amazement that expanded to delight.

"What shall I wear, Jim?" I asked, delighted at his interest.

"By Jove!" cried Jim suddenly, "I have it....Princess Anne—my lilac Princess. That's how you'll go—as the Lilac Lady. And no one at the party'll look sweeter."

Jim's "Lilac Lady." The old name . . . The dear dear name brought me happiness after all.

ALL THE YEAR ROUND FAMILY MEDICINE

You must remember! But Father John's Medicine is an all-the-year-round tonic flesh-builder and people gain steadily while taking this wholesome food medicine. If you want to gain weight begin taking Father John's Medicine right now. Guaranteed free from alcohol and dangerous drugs.

Proof—Mrs. Lucy Wing of Liberty, Me., says her first baby's health was made fat and healthy by Father John's Medicine.

Tells a Secret

Manufacturer of Famous Medicine Tells Ingredients, So Public Can Appreciate Pure, Reliable Medicine.

Many people fear to take medicine to stop a cold, another cure coughs, catarrh, etc. This fear is groundless with all the products of The Blackburn Products Co., Dayton, Ohio. Not one contains opiates, narcotics or harmful drugs. Mentho-Laxene, for coughs, colds, catarrh, and all diseases following a cold, is a compound of Wild Cherry, Tolu, Cascara, Grindelia, Menthol, Ammonium Chloride, and alcohol sufficient to preserve and keep in solution.

Every ingredient is in concentrated form, and the medicine is so strong that only ten-drop doses are to be taken in the "raw" state. But the best way is to make into syrup by emptying a 2¼-oz. bottle of Mentho-Laxene into a pint bottle and then fill the bottle with granulated sugar syrup, made by dissolving a pint of sugar in a half-pint of boiling water. It is said by thousands that this makes a most effective home treatment for all cold troubles. The manufacturer guarantees it to please or money back. Sold by all good druggists.—Advertisement.

INDIGESTION CAN'T STAY

Stomach Pain, Sourness, Gases, and Acidity ended with "Pape's Diapepsin"

Out-of-order stomachs feel fine at once! When meals don't fit and you belch gas, acids and undigested food, when you feel indigestion pain, lumps of distress in stomach, heartburn or headache. Here is instant relief.

Just as soon as you eat a tablet or two of Pape's Diapepsin all the dyspepsia, indigestion and stomach distress caused by acidity will end. These pleasant, harmless tablets of Pape's Diapepsin always put sick, upset, acid stomachs in order right away and they cost so little at drug stores.—Advertisement

How to Banish Wrinkles and Crow's Feet Quickly

If your face is disfigured with wrinkles, no matter what the cause, you can quickly dispel every line, even the most obstinate, by using a simple, harmless wash lotion. Merely dissolve an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint witch hazel—ingredients found in any drug store. Bathe the face in this and prestto—you scarcely believe your own eyes when you look in the mirror and behold the marvelous transformation. Even the remarkable appearance of one of the saxolite so tightens the skin, wrinkles and crow's feet disappear entirely. As this result is not merely temporary, but permanent, it is said that the tightening which tends to strengthen, and tone up the weakened tissue and added beauty may be expected to those who use it. Use this once a day for a while, it cannot injure the most delicate skin. The treatment itself leaves no trace—no one knows the secret of your youthful appearance.—Advertisement.

Difficult to Keep Your Hair Wavy? Read This

If you have not yet tried the new way, the slimerine way, by all means do so. You'll never again use the ralmoss heated iron. The softness it will appear so perfectly natural and the bulb will not be beautifully lustrous, unkinked, dried and parched. Thus liquid slimerine serves also a beneficial dressing for the hair for it is neither sticky nor greasy, but quite pleasant to use. It should be applied at night with the tooth brush, drawing the latter through the hair from roots to tips.

The hair will have the loveliest curls and wave imaginable in the morning and it will be easy to manage, no matter how you do it. Two or three drops of the liquid from your druggist will last a long time.—Advertisement.

LIGHT OPERA PLEASES AT MAJESTIC

"Fair Helen" Full of Excellent Music and Brilliantly Staged

One of the most important productions, in point of tradition, musical worth and theatric costumes and setting, seen here in a long time, is "Fair Helen," a modernized version of offenbach's light opera, "La Belle Helene," given at the Majestic Theatre.

Marcia Van Dresser sings the title role, James Harrod that of Paris. Others in the cast are George S. Trimbi, Bertha Elvira, Percival Vivian, Le Roi Operti, Louis Dean, J. Parker Coombs, Harry Macdonough and Stella Gilmore.

The new libretto is by Austin Strong and the lyrics by Charles Hanson Towne. The piece is produced by Richard Ordynski, and Milan Roder conducts.

LIBRETTO WEAKEST FACTOR.

No subject lends itself better to light romantic-burlesque treatment than the old Trojan legend that has served as inspiration to the greatest poets of all time. Nothing is sacred from the parodist, and burlesque treatment is legitimate if it succeeds in being funny.

The libretto is the weakest factor in "Fair Helen," the wobbling and futile figure of Menelaus being the only character with a really humorous appeal. The music, however, both in substance and in performance, is continual, and much of the costuming and singing justify the great expense to which the producers have gone to mount this work.

Miss Van Dresser is a satuesque Helen, truly regal in appearance, and with a full sense of the comedy possibilities in her role. She used her voice with skill, although some of the music lay in its most difficult register. In the love duet in act two, her voice and that of Mr. Harrod were most effective, and the scene was perhaps the most striking dramatical feature of the production. Mr. Harrod has an agreeable voice and is youthful and of good looking enough to fit the role.

SETTINGS ARE STRIKING.

The settings deserve a special word of tribute. The three acts represent the palace before the temple of Jupiter; Helen's boudoir; and the seashore with the galley of Venus in which the lovers sail away. The first scene was not especially striking; but the two following, particularly the boudoir of the queen, were of rare beauty. In color, line and lighting this set stood out as a noteworthy feature of the opera.

Only the first part of the Trojan legend is used for the piece, and the promise of Venus to reward Paris for his award of the golden apple by giving him the most beautiful woman in Greece; the coming of Paris to Sparta, his visit to the queen, and the sailing away of the lovers under the eyes of the gullible Menelaus, by a ruse of the shepherd lovers.

A conventional librettist would have observed the proprieties, so called, by not having the episode of Paris and Helen a mere escapade; his text would have shaded over into thinner ice in the dialogue, but would have been acquitted of any actual impropriety of behavior. In the present the reverse is true; the old legend is, of course, highly improper, but the dialogue is quite innocuous.

The performance was a brilliant one, and many of the musical numbers were encored.

SCHOOL CHILDREN SEE CRAIGS IN "HAMLET"

The Craig Players repeated "Hamlet" yesterday at the Arlington Theatre afternoon and evening, the matinee performance being especially for the school children of Arlington and suburbs. They filled the house, and were warmly appreciative of the entire production, and especially of Mr. Craig in the role of Hamlet and Miss Young as Ophelia. "Romeo and Juliet" will be the bill this afternoon and evening.

Beginning Thursday evening and for the remainder of the week, "Othello" will be staged for the first time by the Craig Players this season. Mr. Craig will appear in the title character, with William Norton as Iago, and Miss Young as Desdemona.

ACTRESS TAKEN ILL; AUDIENCE DISMISSED

Florence Moore, the actress, starring in "Breakfast in Bed," at the Plymouth Theatre, was taken suddenly ill last night and the audience was dismissed. Dr. J. B. Thornton attended Miss Moore and stated that a night's rest would be all that was necessary for her to continue in her role this evening.

Upon her arrival at the theatre Miss Moore was overcome by a fainting spell. In spite of advice to the contrary, she declared that she would go on and play her part rather than disappoint the audience. The orchestra was led by LeRoy Shields while Miss Moore put on her make-up, but when she attempted to make an entrance in the first act she was again overcome and had to be carried to her dressing room.

AMERICANS TO GIVE INSTITUTE TO BELGIUM

New York, Oct. 22.—A medical institute similar to the Rockefeller Institute will be given to Belgium by American citizens, it is announced by Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, chairman of a committee planning a tribute to Belgium. The gift will be presented to the King and Queen of the Belgians at a performance in their honor at the Metropolitan Opera House Saturday night. The institution is to be located at Brussels. The funds will be raised by popular subscription.

U. S. RELIEF SOCIETY FEEDS MILLION POLISH CHILDREN

Danzig, Poland, Oct. 22.—More than a million children are being fed throughout Poland by the American Relief Society, according to John Lang of Seattle, Wash., who is in charge of the work here. He declared today that eventually it is hoped to spread the work to Germany, where it is greatly needed.

Edison's Lights Go Out on Anniversary of Discovery

Orange, N. J., Oct. 22.—Thomas A. Edison was working in his laboratory here on the fortieth anniversary of his perfection of the incandescent electric light when the bulbs in the room grew dim and went out as a strike of public service corporation employes suspended service. Mr. Edison immediately brought an emergency set of storage batteries into use and went on with his work undisturbed.

Forty years ago Edison, after having spent almost $40,000, discovered that a bit of carbonized cotton thread, when looped inside a glass globe with a vacuum of one millionth of an atmosphere, would furnish the illumination which revolutionized artificial lighting.

Hood Rubber Company

STITCHERS—ATTENTION

WE NEED ten more experienced stitchers. Here are the essential facts: We make work clothing. The work is steady; the operations simple and easily learned. Actual work hours are forty-two and ten minutes per week. Working conditions are better than the average. Earnings on piece work rate range from $15.00 to $25.00 per week. Some of our skilled workers earn more. Single and double needle Singer, Union Special and Metropolitan operators wanted. Experienced stitchers can gain speed in two to three weeks and we will pay liberally during that period. Our shop is not a bonanza; rainbow chasers and yearners for distant "pastures green" will be disappointed. Conscientious workers, seeking steady employment, liberal earnings and absolutely honest treatment will find our factory a desirable place in which to earn a good living. This is the entire story. Do not come unless you are satisfied with the above.

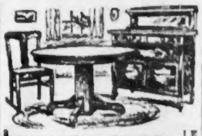
IF YOU BUY $100 WORTH or more at this Big Up-town Store this month. An unusual and attractive offer to induce you to come Up-town and see how much we can save you.

A New Plan

Has just been adopted by this Big Up-town Store. You may select now at our low prices what you may need later on, paying a deposit, then a comfortable amount a week or a month. The goods being stored free until you want them. In this way you will not only save a considerable amount, but your home will be all paid for when you move in. We have made this offer to protect you against high prices, but conditions have become so bad, prices so high, furniture so scarce, in the last two weeks, that after this month we will be unable to continue it, so select now. Do not be disappointed and pay the higher prices.

An Unusual Value



Complete Dining Room Suite

$125 Value $75

That shows you at once that you cannot go wrong or do better than to furnish your home now, and at this Big Up-town Store, when you can obtain values like the Dining-room Suite shown here. It is less than the manufacturers' price of today. It consists of one Solid Oak Buffet with planked top, an attractively designed Dining Table, and four saddle seat Dining Chairs. All are exactly matched and finished in a rich Golden Oak. Considered a good value at $125. Our up-town price, $75.

OTHERS UP TO $600

LOOK FIRST ALL YOU CAN

then see us. You will more readily see just how much we can save you, as well as how much easier we can furnish your home.

Special Payments

may be arranged if you so desire; you may pay a comfortable amount at time of purchase and a comfortable amount each week until it is paid for. Six months' credit without interest.

Starving the Mind and Soul Not Intelligent Economy

The minimum pay of a grade teacher in Boston is $696, and the maximum pay is $1,368, attainable in seven years. Employment is conditional upon a high school course and two years of training in the normal school or two years of teaching elsewhere.

A young woman of average ability who takes a course in stenography and typewriting after passing through the grammar school can readily secure employment paying $18 to $20 a week.

A young woman who has had only elementary schooling can easily find a job in an industrial plant where she will receive $12 to $15 a week while she is being taught to run a machine, and after a few months may earn as high as $25 or even $30.

Why should a young woman study and train many years to earn $696 a year by teaching when she can qualify to earn twice that sum in business or industry with less than half as long preparation?

Whether she should or should not, the fact is that she won't.

The schools of Boston cannot get enough teachers to teach the children of Boston. Their reserve list is exhausted and many teachers are required to teach seventy pupils when the limit of good teaching is under forty.

What is true in Boston is still measurably true in many American communities, notwithstanding the efforts which have been made here and there to increase teachers' pay.

In Soviet Russia, our unofficial envoy, William C. Bullitt, reported, adults reduce their scant fare that the children in the Russian schools may be well nourished.

They say it doesn't matter so much what happens to the old folks if only the next generation can be saved.

Boston and other rich American cities would be improved if they had more of that spirit.

Every minute in every day throughout the United States we have vivid object lessons showing the need of enlightenment among all the people.

The very life of democracy depends upon the ability of the people to think.

Yet the public servants charged with the task of training the minds of young Americans are still so badly underpaid that everywhere they are leaving the teaching profession in order to earn enough to live.

Just as ministers of religion, our teachers of faith and morals, are being starved into other pursuits.

The teachers of Boston have organized to ask a $400 advance for the least paid, and, if they should get it, they would still be underpaid.

It is a time when taxes bear very heavily, and when there is special need of true economy.

But it is not true economy to reduce the education of the young.

Just as it is not true economy to starve the spiritual leaders of any people.

There is money enough to pay teachers and preachers living wages, and there ought to be public intelligence enough to make that money go where it is so clearly needed.

Time for Everything Save Welfare of the People

Congressman Dallinger of Massachusetts has offered a resolution asking for the establishment of an embargo on sugar which shall last six months in order to relieve the shortage which the American people are suffering with respect to sugar. Mr. Dallinger says:

Hundreds of tons of sugar are leaving our ports every day for foreign countries, more than enough to relieve our shortage if kept here in the United States. . . . If those of us who are anxious to look after the vital welfare of our own people, and who at least are as much interested in America as in the world as a whole, can get this embargo enacted into law, I will guarantee that almost at once there will be enough sugar to go around.

Mr. Dallinger, of course, is right. But it is doubtful that the resolution will pass. Congress is in leading strings. The combination of presidential power and Wall Street obliterates Congress. So just now we are helping Wall Street and Downing Street and other financial streets in other European capitals and Tokio, Japan, to keep the industry of Europe prostrate, to keep two hundred million people in Eastern Europe out of productive employment and to make the vast stores of grain to rot in the fields of Russia by reason of our blockade. And we are lending England and France, for the sake of these financial adventurers, billions upon billions of money to be spent in violation of the professions with which we waged the war. We are lending these huge sums to be spent upon imperialistic aggressions against democracy and self-determination everywhere, and upon every imaginable quest for spoils, and upon the consequent maintenance of otherwise useless armaments.

When the American people wake up to the immorality and the insanity of this policy, which is picking their pockets every day and will sooner or later lead them to financial distress, something strenuous is likely to happen in the political world.

Just One Way to End Street Railway Muddle

Frederick E. Snow, attorney for the Boston Elevated when it was under private management, is quoted to have told the special street railway commission the other day that if the Legislature had adopted the suggestion of Public Service Commissioner Eastman and taken over "the control of the road until such a time as it can become a paying proposition and not for ten years, the position of the company would be much stronger than it is now."

If Mr. Snow is correctly quoted, he egregiously misquotes Commissioner Eastman. Commissioner Eastman never urged that the Boston Elevated should be taken by the people during its dry season and then when it had been made a new milch cow, be returned to its private owners. That was a scheme of the Boston Elevated itself. The Elevated wanted a provision in the law which would have made the State carry the bag as long as it was unprofitable to do so and then would let the private managers come back just as soon as the people's money had rebuilt the road and put millions of value into it.

There is just one way to straighten out this street railway muddle and at the same time get a return to a five-cent fare. That way is for the public to take the roads but refuse to pay a dollar for water. If the stockholders are not willing to give a dollar's worth of value for a dollar of the public money then condemn the property and take it by eminent domain.

Will Boston Be Greatest Seaport Once More?

Last Sunday's Boston Advertiser brought the city and State the glad tidings that four big ocean going steamers would make Boston their port. Mr. Stewart, the manager of the Cunard Line, calls attention to the fact that Boston was the Cunard Line's first port. This reminds us also that Boston used to be the greatest seaport in the western world.

The day was once when ships built in New England, captained and manned by New England men and sailing from Boston, carried the American flag into every port of the seven seas. Vigorous men still live who remember that day when the tallest mast and the fastest ship wherever seen in the world hailed from Boston or her immediate vicinity.

DON'T WORRY ABOUT THE OTHER FELLOW!
HOW ABOUT YOURSELF?

You know of some person who works only a few hours and gets more money for it than you can get for a whole week of labor at the only kind you can do.

Instead of using your brain to master something more remunerative for your own time, you spend your free moments blaming the "hard luck" of your position.

You consider you have had unequal opportunities in comparison.

And while your mind is surcharged with such thoughts you surely are not in line for improvement.

Because you are jealous of the fellow who gets more money than you do, why block your own prospects of advancement?

It cannot do any material damage to the other fellow—what you think of him; for if he is anybody he will not recognize your attitude at all.

Then, why injure yourself?

Do you think any one person holds a monopoly of lucrative positions?

Certainly not.

Then forget everything else but the fact that you are ready for the change, whatever it is, which shall better your prospects. And remember, that your desire for work should equal your desire for reward.

IN THE little cemetery.
THAT LIES on a hill.
AND SEEMS no larger.
THAN A city block.
THEY HAVE worn a path.
UP THE side of the hill.
TO ITS topmost point.
AND HAVE halted there.
WHERE THE modest stone.
HOLDS THE name engraved.
"THEODORE ROOSEVELT."
AND I was one.
WHO CLIMBED the path.
AND CAME down again.
AND WENT my way.
ON A country road.
AND ANOTHER hill.
TO WHERE he lived.
AND WHAT I saw.
ON THIS other hill.
WAS A modest place.
THAT AS I gazed.
SEEMED TO rob my mind.
OF THE knowledge it held.
THAT HERE was the house.
IN WHICH had dwelled.
A WORLD known man.
WHOM THE world acclaimed.
A VERY great man.
AND ALL I could see.
WAS JUST a HOME.
AS YOU might have.
OR I might have.
AND BACK again.
DOWN THE country road.
IN THE dim twilight.
I PASSED the hill.
WHERE HE lies asleep.
AND IT seemed to me.
THAT HAD I lived.
ON THAT other hill.
AND LOVED its birds.
AND ITS mighty trees.
AND ITS rolling fields.
THAT I would have chosen.
JUST AS he had chosen.
TO SLEEP my sleep.
WHERE MY friends had been.
AND DUSK came on.
AND I went my way.
AND BACK in the world.
ON THAT same night.
I SAT me down.
WITH A wonderful book.
AND READ the letters.
THAT THEODORE Roosevelt.
HAD WRITTEN his children
DURING ALL the days.
WHEN HE loomed so big.
THAT WE might have supposed.
HE HAD no time.
FOR "LITTLE things."
AND SO it has happened.
THAT ON this day.
I WILL add my mite.
THAT THERE may be built
A MONUMENT.
WHICH JUST for myself.
I WILL inscribe.
"NOT BECAUSE he was great.
"BUT BECAUSE in his greatness.
"HE DIDN'T forget."

I THANK you.

ATMOSPHERE FIXES FATE OF MANY NATIONS

By Garrett P. Serviss

DO you want to look at the world and its history from a new viewpoint? Then consider such statements and suggestions as these from Ellsworth Huntington's book on "World Power and Evolution":

Changing climate overthrew Rome, and "her fall was followed by that period of unfavorable climate known as the Dark Ages." "In ancient days, when the climate of the Turkish Empire was favorable, the ancestors of some of the present inhabitants were the leaders of civilization."

The efforts of the Germans after world power were stimulated by the remarkably invigorating climate in which they live. The most important quality of climate with regard to its effects on human evolution is variability: It is the changes that impart the snap. No great race lives in a uniform climate. The last glacial epoch whipped up the development of the human mind. "The coldest places were not favorable, but on their borders, where the climate was severe enough to be highly bracing, but not benumbing, there occurred an extraordinary development of brain power."

Not Really New

All this is stimulating to thought, although it is not fundamentally new. Buckle many years ago maintained and illustrated in a book more fascinating than a novel the influence of nature on civilization through climate and allied factors. He grouped these influences under four heads: climate, food, soil and the general aspect of nature. Buckle's book created a sensation when I was a student in college, and we used to base class orations on it. A student who could quote and expound Buckle effectively shone as a star in the debates. But Buckle's own star declined afterward, and until lately his views have been rather pushed aside. Now, however, we see them coming to the front again, largely as a result of the stimulus to speculative thought that the great war has given in all directions.

Air a Necessity of Life

The novelty of Huntington's theme lies in the concentration upon aerial influences as the chief factor affecting humanity. We all know, but we seldom realize, that "air is the first necessity of life. We may live without food for days and without water for hours, but we cannot live without air more than a few minutes." These facts justify the statement that "good ventilation is the first rule of hygiene."

This is of particular importance just now in face of coming Winter and of the official warning that there may be a recurrence of influenza unless special precautions are observed. The best protection against diseases of that kind is vigorous health. Nobody can keep entirely out of the reach of noxious germs, but everybody is more or less safely guarded by an army of microscopic and sub-microscopic defenders, to whom fresh, stimulating air is as essential as food and drink, or powder and bullets to an army of soldiers.

In the broader sense in which civilization is regarded as a function of atmospheric variability the question of the causes, and even of the existence, of disastrous climatic changes proves hard to answer. It is not clear what changed Rome's climate to such a degree that it lost its stimulating power, so that the descendants of Caesar's soldiers were easily overcome by barbarians.

Not all who have studied the subject would admit that there has been any considerable climatic change in Italy, at least on a scale large enough to disastrously undermine the stamina of its inhabitants. There is certainly no historic evidence that during the time of Rome's growth toward world empire the Italian air, upon the whole, was any better than it is today.

LIFE EXISTS IN OTHER WORLDS

Science at last has satisfied itself that life exists on many of the myriads of worlds which we are able to see on clear nights. The discussion pro and con which has raged among astronomers and other savants for years, it seems, has been set at rest by the discovery of minute fossils embedded in fragments of meteors which fall, from time to time, in various parts of our own world. Both vegetable and animal life are revealed in these discoveries. Read about them in next Sunday's Magazine section of the

SHY PERSONS SOMETIMES SEEM TO BE COOL

By Mrs. Wilson Woodrow

SOME people have a forbidding expression and a chilling manner. It is usually taken for granted that they are disagreeable and stand-offish, whereas in nine cases out of ten they are merely painfully shy.

I have learned from experience that about one letter in every ten I receive is from a shy girl, describing her heart-burnings and her inability to overcome this affliction.

I have been studying one today. It is from a girl who signs herself "Unhappy," and recites the way in which her apparently incurable diffidence has affected her life. She says:

A Shy Girl's Story

"My mother died when I was very young. My father remarried and I went to live with an aunt. She was very poor and had a large family, of which I was the eldest. I cared for the younger children and studied when I had the chance; but I never played, never put on a pretty dress, never had anything to do with other children. Still I always clung to the belief that I was going to be happy when I grew up. God surely would make up to me for my miserable, lonely days.

"Early in my 'teens I went to work, and studied in a business school in the evenings; afterward I secured a position in an office. There I found to my sorrow that I was terribly different from the other girls. They thought me so queer. I could not laugh as they did. I was so awkward and so shy that I could not speak to any one and feel at ease. They were all so far superior to me. I didn't dress well; I couldn't do my hair up right; I was odd. I finally decided that I was lacking somewhere, and tried to be like the others. But, try as hard as I could, I was still my old self. Girls laughed at me, and didn't become at all friendly with me. As for the boys, some laughed and some took an interest in me; but I was shy with them, too.

Heart Is Broken

"Then my aunt, who had come to be in better circumstances, began to nag at me to get married. Finally I met a young man and we fell very much in love with each other. Well, I thought that now my dream had come true. Surely I was going to be happy. So I was for a very short time; then he broke our engagement and left me for another girl. Now, that this has happened, everything is over for me. I am friendless and my heart is broken. I am not happy and never will be. Therefore, I cannot make any one else happy; so I think the best thing for me to do is to lie down quietly and die. I am twenty and feel as if I was sixty."

My dear girl, it is not so easy to lie down quietly and die. To depart from this world at will requires considerable preparation, and is, even if carried through successfully, a disagreeable, painful, messy performance with a good deal of unpleasant notoriety attached to it. And why write yourself down in the Book of Fate as a "quitter," who hadn't enough of the sporting spirit to play the game out?

Dismiss that morbid thought and let me suggest a far more interesting experiment—the reconstruction of yourself. You really are not giving yourself a square deal.

Suppose you had charge of a child on whom you looked constantly with pity and scorn and to whom you said over and over again, "You poor, little thing, you have no show in the world. You are shy and awkward and not nearly so attractive as other children. You can never amount to anything, so you might as well lie down and die." Can you picture the effect of such an attitude upon that child? I can; and if I were to learn of you doing such a thing, I would hastily and heartily report you to the Children's Society for cruelty.

You started out wrong in your efforts to be like the girls you envied and admired. You tried to imitate them, and you are evidently a bad imitator. Try another method. Discover yourself.

When you feel like crying, begin to praise yourself. Say, "I really am awfully nice. Most girls are as alike as peas in a pod, but I am different in an interesting way, and more original. People would like me if I could only show them my real self."
